700 Residents Evacuated By Threat Of Explosion

Ammonium Nitrate In Damaged Boxcar Causes Excitement

By GEORGE BARTSCH

NORPHLET, Ark. (AP)—All of this town's 700 residents were evacuated Friday under threat of a possible ammonium nitrate explosion—that is, all except one.

She was Katie Loper, 60, a widow, who lives alone a block from the grade crossing where a freight train and a gasoline truck collided just before dawn.

A fire that ensued threatened to detonate a boxcar load of ammonium nitrate. Civil Defense workers evacuated everyone in town but somehow they missed Mrs. Loper.

She ate breakfast and walked to the business section to watch the fire.

"Young man, there's a fire under one of those tank cars," she told a fireman.

"Yes ma'am," he replied, and went on fighting the fire.

Mrs. Loper walked to the post office. It was locked. Suddenly she realized no one was in town except firemen.

"The devil and Tom Walker, I said to myself," she recounted later. "There must be something wrong here."

She went home and locked her doors. She has no car so she couldn't leave town.

At 11:30 a.m. when the fire had been extinguished and the danger was over, her son, Harvey Ray Loper who lives two miles away, knocked on her door.

Officers hadn't let him through a roadblock when he tried to reach his mother.

"I felt real shaky when I got back to the house," she said. "But now I'm mad. Why didn't somebody tell me about it?"

Civil Defense officials said they didn't know how Mrs. Loper had been missed in the door-to-door evacuation.

Residents of the south Arkansas town, five miles north of El Dorado, were sent to homes of friends, to hospitals, to nursing homes and to Salvation Army headquarters in El Dorado and Smackover, a town nine miles north of Norphlet. Most of them had returned home by afternoon.

When the 74-car Missouri Pacific freight, heading north from El Dorado to Little Rock, collided with the gasoline truck, gasoline spilled into the grade crossing and ignited.

The truck driver and two trainmen were injured slightly. The engine and 15 freight cars derailed.

The ammonium nitrate car, being shipped from the Monsanto Chemical Co. in El Dorado, was in the fire's path.

At first firemen left town with the residents. Then as the fire grew they returned.

When the freight car burned, the granular chemical used for fertilizer spilled onto the grade crossing. Then the firemen put out the blaze quickly.

Ammonium nitrate can be exploded only when it is burned without oxygen so that gas builds up, Monsanto officials said.

Too Reliant On Missiles

HOUSTON, Tex. (AP)—Former Secretary of the Air Force Dudley C. Sharp says the United States is relying too heavily on missiles for its defense.

"This is a very dangerous thing," Sharp told the Reserve Officers Association Thursday night. Sharp was secretary of the Air Force during the last part of the administration of former President Dwight D. Eisenhower.

Dutch Student's Ouster Causes Misunderstanding

ROYAL OAK, Mich. (AP)—No one feels more misunderstood than the Youth for Understanding Committee.

Its Michigan director, Rachel Andresen of Ann Arbor, says the uproar over last week's ouster of a Dutch student from an exchange program here, is "silly."

The student, Maarten Abeln, now home in the Netherlands, has written some caustic observations from his six-month stay here for the Algemeen Handelsblad, an Amsterdam newspaper.

Among them:

"More than 30 per cent of U.S. teen-agers do not know that Christ was born in Bethlehem."

"Americans believe 'lavatories' are not usable without a radio set."

"U.S. television is 'a horror' of commercials, and U.S. education standards 'absurdly low.'"

The newspaper said the boy's being removed from the program was "a bad mark for pedagogues—a particularly painful story without humor."

"You might wonder whether an American exchange student would have been sent back to the United States for saying that Holland is a dirty country."

Mrs. Andresen insists the newspaper pieces had nothing to do with it, "but they do reflect the boy's biggest difficulty."

"At 17, Maarten had all the answers to everything and wasn't about to accept answers from anybody," she said.

She wired Frans Berens at the committee's contact office in Amsterdam that the boy was sent home "on unanimous recommendation of our committee."

"Government not involved. Reasons were inability to adjust to family and poor grades. Never took responsibility as member of his family, who refused to keep him longer. Original agreement with every student clearly states review of family relations and school work at end of semester," said the wire.

Seven Sites Plan Offered

WASHINGTON (AP)—The United States disclosed Friday night it has told the Soviet Union it might accept seven on-site inspections to police an atomic test ban if the Russians agree to "meaningful" inspection procedures.

The United States has been insisting on eight to 10 on-site inspections while the Soviet Union has agreed to two or three.

An official U.S. statement voiced disappointment at Soviet unwillingness to go ahead with three-nation talks on a test-ban treaty. But it said the U.S. disarmament chief, William C. Foster, will return to Geneva this weekend in another effort to reach an effective agreement to outlaw nuclear explosions.

The U.S. statement was issued by the Arms Control and Disarmament Agency, which Foster heads, after it had been cleared by President Kennedy.

5000 Women Shove, Kick For Bronx Store Bargains

By JUNIUS GRIFFIN

NEW YORK (AP)—They shoved. They kicked. Some wielded elbows and occasionally a hat pin flashed. Those 5,000 women shoppers wanted to get at the Washington's Birthday bargains inside a Bronx department store. And they meant it.

Before they were through it was a near riot with two persons injured, including a woman who was shoved through a 5-foot-wide, 14-foot-high, plate glass window.

Some 50 policemen and three fire companies needed two hours to control the crowd that gathered in front of Alexander's department store, coveting such items as 29-cent tooth paste and $999 mink coats.

Yet, through it all safely went two elderly men, gingerly picking their way with the help of canes.

Shoppers began gathering at 7 a.m. with the temperature at 8 degrees and surged forward, smashing the display window,

Mercy Airlift To Levelled Town Started

AL MARJ, Libya (AP)—U.S. planes began a big mercy airlift Friday to this stricken farming center, all but leveled by three earthquakes that left more than 200 dead and thousands homeless.

This town of 15,000 was one of the battle grounds of the British and the Axis in World War II.

Schools and public buildings were turned into shelters for many of the homeless. The Americans and British flew in tents for others.

The best estimate is that at least 250 persons were killed and 150 injured. These are similar to figures announced by Radio Libya.

A U.S. Air Force spokesman reported 500 Libyans may have been killed and 1,000 injured, but these reports were unconfirmed.

The first shattering quake came at sundown Thursday and apparently caused the most casualties. Two more quakes struck Friday morning as rescue crews worked through the mounds of rubble left by the first shock. Injured were treated in Benghazi hospitals.

The British set up joint relief headquarters with the Americans in Benghazi, eastern capital of Libya, 55 miles southwest of Al Marj.

The hard-pressed Libyan Red Crescent appealed to Red Cross organizations throughout the world to send medicine, food and blankets.

U. S. Policy Seen Ending Castroism

Senator Russell Offers Comment After Hearing

By GARDNER L. BRIDGE

WASHINGTON (AP)—Sen. Richard B. Russell, D-Ga., said Friday Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara "made it very clear that we are pursuing a policy that will result in the elimination of Castroism and communism from Cuba."

Russell made this statement after the Senate Armed Services Committee, of which he is chairman, met behind closed doors with the defense chief.

In reply to questions, Russell said McNamara outlined methods for carrying out this country's Cuba policy, but he declined to divulge details on the ground that these are classified matters.

Will Shoot

McNamara also assured the committee, Russell said, that U.S. planes will shoot down any Cuban-based MIGs that attack American ships or installations.

"There is no doubt that in the future the American planes will retaliate," Russell said, adding this would be so even if the Cuban planes attacked in error. Asked how, he said:

"The only way I know how to retaliate would be by shooting it down."

The question of retaliation came up when Russell said the Cuban MIG attack on a storm-disabled American shrimp boat had been discussed with McNamara.

Russell and other U.S. officials dismissed as holiday oratory the threat voiced in Moscow Friday that any American attack on Cuba would trigger World War III.

Secretary of State Dean Rusk, commenting on the speech by Soviet Defense Minister Rodion Y. Malinovsky, told newsmen it was "what you would expect on the 45th anniversary of the Soviet armed forces."

Malinovsky, speaking before a Moscow audience that included Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev, said:

"We would like to warn the aggressive circles of the United States that an attack on the Cuban republic would mean a third world war." He added that "the Soviet Union will be the first ranks of those who will come to its (Cuba's) assistance."

Russell said:

"If we are going to be guided in our defense and foreign policies by some Soviet marshal's propaganda, then we are going to be a second-rate power."

"Fire And Brimstone"

He said he regards the Soviet threat of a third world war as "breathing fire and brimstone for home consumption and to bolster up the satellites."

"I think it is significant that Mr. Khrushchev did not make that statement," he added.

Senate Democratic leader Mike Mansfield of Montana said he sees nothing new in the Russian threats.

"They have said it all before," Mansfield commented.

Sen. George D. Aiken, R-Vt., said the Russian threats "are undoubtedly intended to increase tensions throughout the world."

Aiken told a reporter, "Trying to keep the world off balance is their stock in trade."

Sen. Strom Thurmond, D-S.C., said, "The Communists will never start a war unless they feel they are ready to win. When they will start it no matter what we do." He added:

"I think the Russians know that we could destroy them if they ever start World War III."

Russell met with reporters after McNamara concluded four straight days of secret testimony on the administration's $55-billion defense budget.

Beefeaters Won't Strike, Get 17-Cent Pay Raise

LONDON (UPI)—An 11th hour compromise Friday night averted a strike by Tower of London beefeaters who guard Britain's priceless crown jewels.

The War Office agreed to boost the Beefeaters' daily allowance by 17 cents a day, giving them their second increase in 113 years.

The 16th Century costumed yeomen warders, immortalized by Gilbert and Sullivan's "Yeomen of the Guard," had warned they would strike Saturday if the War Office rejected their demands.

Space Balloon Ripped Apart By Explosions

PALESTINE, Tex. (UPI)—A series of explosions that sounded like mortar fire ripped a giant unmanned space exploration balloon Friday while it is being inflated with helium gas for a trip above earth's atmosphere to study Mars.

There were no injuries. The $8,000 balloon was ruined. Princeton University scientists estimated it would be at least a week before another balloon can be obtained and they can again attempt the launching.

The accident occurred just as scientists were sure everything was ready for the launching after 14 frustrating postponements caused by bad weather and mechanical failure.

The 80-foot-by-60-foot balloon was about half filled with helium when a tear developed. Scientists were trying to determine if it could be patched when it ripped wide open with a series of sharp, popping sounds. The polyester fiber shell ruptured like a child's balloon magnified hundreds of times.

The balloon was set to carry a 13,500 pound payload to 14,000 feet where a second, larger balloon, would be inflated for the final push to an altitude of 80,000 feet for an unrestricted look at Mars from beyond the haze of earth's atmosphere.

Disappointed scientists believed the damage was confined to the smaller balloon. There was no damage to the delicate 36-inch telescopic eye that was to probe Martian atmosphere in search of life-related elements such as water vapor.

Yemen President Backs Federation

DAMASCUS, Syria (AP)—Yemen's president, Field Marshal Abdullah Al-Sallal, called today for establishment of an Arab federation embracing the United Arab Republic, Iraq, Algeria and Yemen.

He also promised that his five-month-old revolutionary regime would support by arms and men any revolt of neighboring Saudi Arabia against King Saud and Prime Minister Crown Prince Feisal.

Cuba Reports New Capture

HAVANA (AP)—The government said Friday it has captured eight counterrevolutionaries who hijacked two Cuban fishing boats last week and used them to haul arms for use in guerrilla operations in central Cuba.

A navy announcement said the men were seized Thursday night as they landed on Cuban shores with the two boats. The navy did not say where the arrests were made but a government communiqué said weapons were being landed "to organize a counter-revolutionary band in the north of Las Villas Province."

The government report said the eight men operated out of Key Elbow, a tiny British island in the Key Sal group—part of the Bahamas—about 30 miles north of central Cuba.

It added the government is preparing a protest to the British Embassy.

Few Senators Hear Washington Tribute

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The Senate solemnly went through its traditional observance of George Washington's birthday Friday but the ritual seemed of more interest to visiting sightseers than to senators.

The galleries were reasonably well filled but less than a dozen senators were on hand as Sen. Winston L. Prouty, R-Vt., performed the traditional reading of Washington's Farewell Address.

Man-Eating Tiger Killed

NEW DELHI (UPI)—A man-eating tiger that killed 11 persons in a 2½-month reign of terror in northern Uttar Pradesh state was killed by Police Superintendent P. C. Mull, the New Delhi newspaper Statesman reported Friday.

Rocky Fetes JFK Proposes To Honor Top Citizen

TARRYTOWN, N.Y. (UPI)—Venezuelan President Romulo Betancourt spent his 55th birthday Friday with Gov. elson A. Rockefeller. The governor gave him a four-foot high original engraving of George Washington as a present.

Rockefeller welcomed Betancourt to his Tarrytown estate as "a friend who enjoys the confidence of the people of the United States."

In a news conference held on a tennis court outside the Rockefeller mansion, the Venezuelan president said that he is continuing to fight for the triumph of liberty in Venezuela and in Latin America.

"I believe that we must continue to try hard to unify all the nations of Latin America in a firm stand against the Cuban regime," he said.

He emphasized that this must be within the Organization of American States (OAS).

Betancourt said that he did not believe that another Latin American nation would follow Cuba and be taken over by the Communists.

"Venezuela will never fall into the hands of the Communists," he said.

Shrugs Off Warning Of Russia

Note To Cuba Demands Prompt Explanation

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The United States pressed plans Friday for tougher action to protect U.S. interests in the Caribbean, and shrugged off Russia's new warning that an attack on Cuba would start World War III.

The State Department made public its note to Cuba demanding a "prompt and unequivocal" explanation for the Wednesday MIG attack on a disabled but unmarked fishing boat in the Florida Straits. Cuba already had denied responsibility for the attack.

At the same time, the Joint Chiefs of Staff were known to be considering the question of "hot pursuit" of any Cuban planes menacing U.S. shipping. But like President Kennedy, defense officials refused to tip off their strategy in advance.

U. S. officials showed little alarm over a warning by Soviet Defense Minister Marshal Rodion Malinovsky that an attack on Cuba would trigger World War III and bring destruction of civilian and military targets in the United States.

What You'd Expect

Secretary of State Dean Rusk told newsmen: "Malinovsky's speech was just what you'd expect on the 45th anniversary of the Soviet armed forces."

In Moscow, the Soviet newspaper "Pravda" countered U.S. protest against the shrimp boat attack by charging that American military planes had been buzzing Russian merchant ships en route to Cuba with "peaceful" cargoes.

Trud charged that a U.S. "bird of prey" buzzed such a ship on Feb. 18 and that another engaged in the same "provocative manner" the next day.

Violation Of Law

In the U.S. note to Cuba, the State Department denounced the attack on the shrimp boat as a "flagrant and deliberate violation of international law." The note, relayed through the Swiss Embassy, demanded a "prompt and unequivocal explanation from the Cuban government."

Repeating Kennedy's Thursday warning, the note also advised the Castro government that the United States would take any measures necessary "to protect the life and property of its nationals on the high seas against such attacks."

Cleveland Guild Ratifies Contract

CLEVELAND (UPI)—Striking members of the American Newspaper Guild Friday ratified a management contract offer which now must be approved by the union's international executive committee.

The guild, which went out on strike Nov. 30 the day after the Teamsters struck, said its pickets would remain at the two daily newspapers, the morning Plain Dealer and the afternoon Scripps-Howard Press, until the contract was signed.

The action left eight unions without a settlement. Still on strike were the teamsters, mailers, printers and machinists. Not on strike but without a contract were the stereotypers, photoengravers, building service employees and operating engineers.

University Officials End Use Of Kissometer

MIAMI, Fla. (AP)—The University of Miami clamped down today on the kissometer, a gadget designed by electrical engineering students to measure the power of a kiss.

There will be no kissing on campus, officials ruled, and students may test the machine only with handshakes.

Three students—Tatiana Priluchni, 18, a bouncy brunette; John Woods, 21, and Don Barachak, 21—made the machine a project to be exhibited at a university engineers exposition.

The kissometer is rigged with flashing lights and ringing bells. The lowest quality kiss flashes a sign that says, "Dead Fish." A better smooch will register "Wow" and the hottest smacker brings a "Wow" and rings a bell. After the exposition opens, officials said, visitors may enter the kissing booth and test the machine if desired.

"It all depends on what's inside," said Tatiana. "If you feel all tingly inside, your kiss will show it."

The man and woman inside the booth hold an electronically charged probe in their hands. It sends a minute amount of current through their bodies. When their lips meet, the circuit is completed.

An assistant professor, Gerald Berman, said the three students learned more about electrical engineering from the project than they would have learned from hours of lectures.

Tawes Urges Tax Reciprocity With Virginia

ANNAPOLIS (AP)—Gov. Tawes urged Gov. Albert S. Harrison Jr. of Virginia Friday to restore complete income tax reciprocity between the two states.

Under a new Virginia law, which went into effect Jan. 1, Maryland residents who work in Virginia must pay income taxes to Virginia in excess of tax credits paid in Maryland.

"I bring the matter to your attention," Gov. Tawes said in a letter to Harrison, "with the hope that you and the General Assembly of Virginia will see fit to modify your law so as to remove this burden on our residents who work in your state."

Before Virginia changed its law, both Maryland and Virginia had provided complete income tax exemptions since 1957 on income earned by residents of the other state.

Comptroller Louis L. Goldstein of Maryland said he has received numerous complaints from Maryland residents about the new Virginia regulations.

Maryland imposes a flat 3 per cent tax on all salary and wage income. Virginia's graduated tax imposes a 2 per cent tax on the first $3,000 of net income, 3 per cent on the next $2,000 and 5 per cent on all net income in excess of $5,000.

On incomes under $5,000 Goldstein said, the Maryland tax credit recognized by Virginia probably would offset the Virginia tax completely.

"But when the net income subject to tax in Virginia exceeds $5,000," Goldstein said, "the Virginia 5 per cent comes into play and our Maryland residents in such situations will owe an income tax to the state of Virginia."

Auto Production Down Slightly

DETROIT (UPI)—Auto production this week will total an estimated 146,271 units, a 2 per cent drop from the 149,392 cars built last week, Ward's Reports said Friday.

The statistical agency reported, however, that this week's total would be 8.6 per cent ahead of the 134,617 cars assembled in the same period last year.

Ward's attributed the slight dip in output this week to planned inventory adjustments by Ford, Chrysler and Studebaker.

Truck production this week is expected to total 29,638, compared with 29,546 last year and 25,283 this time a year ago.

Rail Carloadings Continue Dropping

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Railroad freight carloadings for the holiday week ended Feb. 16 continued to drop from their year ago pace, the Association of American Railroads reported Friday.

It was the 31st drop in 32 weeks for carloadings.

The AAR reported loadings of 512,064 cars last week, against 528,762 cars the week before, and 538,373 cars in the like week the preceding year.

Loadings for the year-to-date totaled 3,449,827 cars, compared with 3,605,402 cars in the same period the previous year.

Piggyback loadings totaled 14,960 cars in the week ended Feb. 9, up 2,395 cars from the same week the prior year.

Mayor Wagner Under Pressure In News Strike

NEW YORK (AP)—Mayor Robert F. Wagner was under pressure Friday to fill a role, outlined by President Kennedy, as impartial umpire in the 77-day New York newspaper blackout.

Through an aide, Wagner promised a decision within 24 hours. Meanwhile, he was in Boston for a Washington's Birthday reunion with his two sons, who are away at schools in New England.

For the past month, the Democratic mayor has been trying in vain to end a printers strike that began Dec. 8 and was followed by the closing of New York's nine major newspapers, with a 5.5 million daily circulation. Some 20,000 newspaper employees were thrown out of work.

Five Crewman Killed

ROTTERDAM, Holland (UPI)—Five men were missing and feared lost Friday in a collision between a 500-ton inland tanker and a patrol launch of the Rotterdam Harbor Authority. The five were crewmen aboard the launch which sank after the collision. Three crewmen were rescued.

The Century 21 Exposition, held in Seattle, Wash., in 1962, was the first major fair to be held in the United States since 1939.

BALTIMORE (AP)—Maryland's 1963 automobile license tags go on sale Monday at the Department of Motor Vehicles headquarters, the offices of 17 county treasurers and some police stations in the state.

Persons applying in person should pay for their tags in cash, but those applying through the mail should use checks or money orders.

BALTIMORE (AP)—Johns Hopkins University has received a check for $409,000 from its alumni. The check was predated Thursday night to President Milton S. Eisenhower at the annual alumni banquet.

BALTIMORE (AP)—George D. F. Robinson Jr., 53, of Baltimore, has been appointed U.S. District Court jury commissioner for Maryland by the four federal judges here.

Robinson is senior vice president of the Maryland National Bank. He succeeds John A. Luetkemeyer, president of the Equitable Trust Co., who resigned.

The jury commissioner helps compile the names and reviews qualifications of persons whose names appear on the jury list.

BALTIMORE (AP)—State Police said Friday they still had no suspects in the slaying of Allene Carol Replane, 25-year-old Laurel school teacher whose frozen body was found Feb. 6 near Ellicott City.

"We're still plugging," said Trooper W. L. Lawrence, who is assisting in the investigation. "We are still hoping for a break somewhere along the line."

Ten plainclothes officers are working fulltime on the case. Mrs. Replane disappeared the night of Jan. 21 on her way home from teaching a class at Laurel High School.

U. S. Astronaut Gets Unicycle

ALBUQUERQUE, N.M. (AP)—An American astronaut has ordered a unicycle.

The order to Push Button Container Corp., Albuquerque, came from spaceman M. Scott Carpenter who wanted the unicycle sent to National Aeronautics and Space Administration, Houston, Tex.

D. E. Cornell III, an official of the corporation, told Carpenter junior high school students can learn to ride the unicycle in 90 minutes.

"Since I assume you will be learning under the force of gravity, it may well take you an hour or so longer," he said.

Cornell said he didn't know why the astronaut wanted the unicycle but he was pretty sure it's not meant for use in space.

Theatre Ends Restrictions In Baltimore

BALTIMORE (AP)—Negroes attended for the first time Friday a Baltimore movie theater previously restricted to white persons. There was no incident of any kind.

Many of about 15 Negroes who saw the afternoon's first show at the Northwood Theater were Morgan State College students who had gone to jail in the belief they had a right to patronize the theater.

One of them was Clarence Logan of Baltimore, Maryland chairman of the Civic Interest Group (CIG). This integrationist organization had been demonstrating sporadically at the theater for eight years in an attempt to break the racial barrier.

Victory came Thursday when the Northwood Theater Corp. announced through Mayor Philip H. Goodman it would integrate if demonstrations stopped immediately. CIG immediately agreed to halt them.

More than 400 white and Negro college students had been arrested and jailed during a stepped-up "stand-in" campaign at the theater during the past six days. They were released from jail after the integration announcement was made.

WASHINGTON (AP)—Rep. Richard E. Lankford, D-Md., says two more Maryland counties have been declared eligible to receive surplus government-owned feed grains at reduced prices.

Lankford said the U.S. Department of Agriculture made Howard and Harford counties eligible because the recent cold weather compounded the hardship of last summer's drought for farmers.

Five Maryland counties previously made eligible are Carroll, Frederick, Montgomery, Washington and Baltimore.

Postman Walks To Annapolis For Integration

ANNAPOLIS (AP)—A postman, used to long walks, hiked from Baltimore to Annapolis Friday and asked the General Assembly to abolish all forms of segregation.

William L. Moore, one of more than 400 persons arrested during recent demonstrations at Baltimore's Northwood Theater, arrived at the State House about 9½ hours after starting his trek.

In a letter handed to legislative leaders, Moore asked that the state trespass law be repealed and that movie theaters be included in any public accommodations bill to prohibit discrimination.

"This is the longest I've ever walked to deliver a letter," the postman said.

JFK Gets Invitation

MANILA (UPI)—President Diosdado Macapagal expressed hope Thursday that President Kennedy would pay a visit to the Philippines before leaving office. Macapagal said last week that he would invite Kennedy but that the White House said he had no present plans for a trip to the Far East this year.

The first commercial phonograph record chaiser, forerunner of the juke box, was invented by Karl Schwartz.

Plane Crashes, Four Killed

ELSBERRY, Mo. (UPI)—Four men were killed Friday when their one-engine plane went into a tailspin and crashed in Mississippi River bottomlands.

The dead were identified as Melvin W. Gabriel, 34, Harlan W. Terwee, 27, and Richard C. Johnson, 30, all of Sioux Falls, S.D., and Robin R. Dump, 24, of Brandon, S.D.

In Sioux Falls the Executive Air Travel Co. said "it's our plane." A spokesman said the victims had left Friday on a trip to Florida.

Johnson had filed the flight plans, indicating he might have been at the controls.

Cuban Refugees To Leave Again

HAVANA (UPI)—A Swiss Embassy spokesman said Friday Cuba will lift its ban on further departures of Cuban refugees by the end of next week.

He said the outward flow of Cubans with U.S. citizenship and their dependents will resume next Friday on American Red Cross-operated planes flying in ransom goods.

So far, some 624 Cuban-Americans have left on seven previous Red Cross flights for Miami and freedom.

Persistence Pays Police

BALTIMORE (AP)—The judge said they were illegally arrested because police didn't have a warrant and dismissed charges against 11 men rounded up in a surprise gambling raid. That raid was Thursday afternoon.

So, Lt. George Andrews went back to the same house Thursday night, knocked on the door and politely inquired where the card game was being held. An accommodating man led the lieutenant and several other plainclothes officers to an upstairs room.

"There's the one who was up here before," shouted one of the card players.

In the scramble for freedom, some of the card players crashed through windows and others ran across rooftops or scammed down the stairs.

An estimated 21 persons got away, but 24 of them were not as lucky. Later, the judge, finding no fault with the arrests, fined the 24 defendants $25 each.

CANBERRA, Australia (AP)—Defense Minister Athol Townley said about 60 cadets from the U.S. Air Force Academy at Colorado Springs, Colo., will visit Australia in June. Their tour will include the Woomera guided weapons testing range.

Flu Epidemic Hits 10 States

ATLANTA (AP)—Asian influenza has reached epidemic stage in 10 states and the District of Columbia, the Communicable Disease Center reported Friday.

CDC spokesman added Georgia, Minnesota and Ohio to the list which already included North Carolina, Maryland, Kansas, Illinois, New York, Massachusetts and Michigan.

The CDC also is making checks in 11 other states on whether outbreaks have reached, or are approaching, epidemics. These states were not identified.

The outbreak covers a wide area and seems to be moving westward. While the CDC has urged flu shots, or boosters, it also has said they appear to have little value after epidemic influenza has turned up.

Thief Steals Radio From State Police

ROCKVILLE, Md. (AP)—If outside interference develops on the State Police radio frequency, troopers won't be surprised.

A thief stole a radio and transmitter from a police car parked behind the Rockville station.

Troopers said the car, damaged several weeks ago in an accident, was left behind the station for repairs. While there, someone broke into the car and took the radio equipment worth $300.

Rio Police Shoot Three Bandits

RIO DE JANEIRO (UPI)—Police shot and killed three tommy-gun-armed bandits Friday moments after they had robbed a Rio Bonito bank branch of $20,000.

The trio carried out the assault successfully but had to exchange shots with a soldier making a deposit to escape. Police took up the pursuit and killed the three in a blazing gun battle.

The bandits were not identified immediately. Police said they had stolen the get-away car from a judge.

Strike Stops Services

MONTEVIDEO, Uruguay (AP)—Montevideo was without electric power, telephone service and bus service again today because of a strike for higher wages. The strike is in its third day.

Electric service was resumed Thursday afternoon but interrupted later as an army patrol took over the central power station. Sit-down strikers in the plant cut off power as the troops approached.

The bus drivers union said an issue is lack of prompt wage payments by the municipality on city-owned lines.

Tawes Urges Tax Reciprocity With Virginia

ANNAPOLIS (AP)—Gov. Tawes urged Gov. Albert S. Harrison Jr. of Virginia Friday to restore complete income tax reciprocity between the two states.

Under a new Virginia law, which went into effect Jan. 1, Maryland residents who work in Virginia must pay income taxes to Virginia in excess of tax credits paid in Maryland.

"I bring the matter to your attention," Gov. Tawes said in a letter to Harrison, "with the hope that you and the General Assembly of Virginia will see fit to modify your law so as to remove this burden on our residents who work in your state."

Before Virginia changed its law, both Maryland and Virginia had provided complete income tax exemptions since 1957 on income earned by residents of the other state.

Comptroller Louis L. Goldstein said he has received numerous complaints from Maryland residents about the new Virginia regulations.

Maryland imposes a flat 3 per cent tax on all salary and wage income. Virginia's graduated tax imposes a 2 per cent tax on the first $3,000 of net income, 3 per cent on the next $2,000 and 5 per cent on all net income in excess of $5,000.

On incomes under $5,000 Goldstein said, the Maryland tax credit recognized by Virginia probably would offset the Virginia tax completely.

"But when the net income subject to tax in Virginia exceeds $5,000," Goldstein said, "the Virginia 5 per cent comes into play and our Maryland residents in such situations will owe an income tax to the state of Virginia."

Auto Production Down Slightly

DETROIT (UPI)—Auto production this week will total an estimated 146,271 units, a 2 per cent drop from the 149,392 cars built last week, Ward's Reports said Friday.

The statistical agency reported, however, that this week's total would be 8.6 per cent ahead of the 134,617 cars assembled in the same period last year.

Ward's attributed the slight dip in output this week to planned inventory adjustments by Ford, Chrysler and Studebaker.

Truck production this week is expected to total 29,658, compared with 29,546 last year and 25,283 this time a year ago.

Rail Carloadings Continue Dropping

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Railroad freight carloadings for the holiday week ended Feb. 16 continued to drop from their year ago pace, the Association of American Railroads reported Friday.

It was the 31st drop in 32 weeks for carloadings.

The AAR reported loadings of 512,064 cars last week, against 528,762 cars the week before, and 538,373 cars in the like week the preceding year.

Loadings for the year-to-date totaled 3,449,827 cars, compared with 3,605,402 cars in the same period the previous year.

Piggyback loadings totaled 14,960 cars in the week ended Feb. 9, up 2,395 cars from the same week the prior year.

Mayor Wagner Under Pressure In News Strike

NEW YORK (AP)—Mayor Robert F. Wagner was under pressure Friday to fill a role, outlined by President Kennedy, as impartial umpire in the 77-day New York newspaper blackout.

Through an aide, Wagner promised a decision within 24 hours. Meanwhile, he was in Boston for a Washington's Birthday reunion with his two sons, who are away at schools in New England.

For the past month, the Democratic mayor has been trying in vain to end a printers strike that began Dec. 8 and was followed by the closing of New York's nine major newspapers, with a 5.5 million daily circulation. Some 20,000 newspaper employees were thrown out of work.

Five Crewman Killed

ROTTERDAM, Holland (UPI)—Five men were missing and feared lost Friday in a collision between a 500-ton inland tanker and a patrol launch of the Rotterdam Harbor Authority. The five were crewmen aboard the launch which sank after the collision. Three crewmen were rescued.

The Century 21 Exposition, held in Seattle, Wash., in 1962, was the first major fair to be held in the United States since 1939.

By The Associated Press
BALTIMORE (AP)—Maryland's 1963 automobile license tags go on sale Monday at the Department of Motor Vehicles headquarters, the offices of 17 county treasurers and some police stations in the state.

Persons applying in person should pay for their tags in cash, but those applying through the mail should use checks or money orders.

BALTIMORE (AP)—Johns Hopkins University has received a check for $409,000 from its alumni. The check was presented Thursday night to President Milton S. Eisenhower at the annual alumni banquet.

BALTIMORE (AP)—George D. F. Robinson Jr., 53, of Baltimore, has been appointed U.S. District Court judge for Maryland by the four federal judges here.

Robinson is senior vice president of the Maryland National Bank. He succeeds John A. Luetkemeyer, president of the Equitable Trust Co., who resigned.

The jury commissioner helps compile the names and reviews qualifications of persons whose names appear on the jury list.

BALTIMORE (AP)—State Police said Friday they still had no suspects in the slaying of Allene Carol Replane, 25-year-old Laurel school teacher whose frozen body was found Feb. 6 near Ellicott City.

"We're still plugging," said Trooper W. L. Lawrence, who is assisting in the investigation. "We are still hoping for a break somewhere along the line."

Ten plainclothes officers are working fulltime on the case. Mrs. Replane disappeared the night of Jan. 21 on her way home from teaching a class at Laurel High School.

U. S. Astronaut Gets Unicycle

ALBUQUERQUE, N.M. (AP)—An American astronaut has ordered a unicycle.

The order to Push Button Container Corp., Albuquerque, came from spaceman M. Scott Carpenter who wanted the unicycle sent to National Aeronautics and Space Administration, Houston, Tex.

D. E. Cornell III, an official of the corporation, told Carpenter junior high school students can learn to ride the unicycle in 90 minutes.

"Since I assume you will be learning under the force of gravity, it may well take you an hour or so longer," he said.

Cornell said he didn't know why the astronaut wanted the unicycle but he was pretty sure it's not meant for use in space.

Theatre Ends Restrictions In Baltimore

BALTIMORE (AP)—Negroes attended for the first time Friday a Baltimore movie theater previously restricted to white persons. There was no incident of any kind.

Many of about 15 Negroes who saw the afternoon's first show at the Northwood Theater were Morgan State College students who had gone to jail in the belief they had a right to patronize the theater.

One of them was Clarence Logan of Baltimore, Maryland chairman of the Civic Interest Group (CIG). This integrationist organization had been demonstrating sporadically at the theater for eight years in an attempt to break the racial barrier.

Victory came Thursday when the Northwood Theater Corp. announced through Mayor Philip H. Goodman it would integrate if demonstrations stopped immediately. CIG immediately agreed to halt them.

More than 400 white and Negro college students had been arrested and jailed during a stepped-up "stand-in" campaign at the theater during the past six days. They were released from jail after the integration announcement was made.

WASHINGTON (AP)—Rep. Richard E. Lankford, D-Md., says two more Maryland counties have been declared eligible to receive surplus government-owned feed grains at reduced prices.

Lankford said the U.S. Department of Agriculture made Howard and Harford counties eligible because the recent cold weather compounded the hardship of last summer's drought for farmers.

Five Maryland counties previously made eligible are Carroll, Frederick, Montgomery, Washington and Baltimore.

Postman Walks To Annapolis For Integration

ANNAPOLIS (AP)—A postman, used to long walks, hiked from Baltimore to Annapolis Friday and asked the General Assembly to abolish all forms of segregation.

William L. Moore, one of more than 400 persons arrested during recent demonstrations at Baltimore's Northwood Theater, arrived at the State House about 9 1/2 hours after starting his trek.

In a letter handed to legislative leaders, Moore asked that the state trespass law be repealed and that movie theaters be included in any public accommodations bill to prohibit discrimination.

"This is the longest I've ever walked to deliver a letter," the postman said.

JFK Gets Invitation

MANILA (UPI)—President Diosdado Macapagal expressed hope Thursday that President Kennedy would pay a visit to the Philippines before leaving office. Macapagal said last week that he would invite Kennedy but that the White House said he had no present plans for a trip to the Far East this year.

The first commercial phonograph record chaiser, forerunner of the juke box, was invented by Karl Schwartz.

Plane Crashes, Four Killed

ELSBERRY, Mo. (UPI)—Four men were killed Friday when their one-engine plane went into a tailspin and crashed in Mississippi River bottomlands.

The dead were identified as Melvin W. Gabriel, 34, Harlan W. Terwee, 27, and Richard C. Johnson, 30, all of Sioux Falls, S.D., and Robin R. Dump, 24, of Brandon, S.D.

In Sioux Falls the Executive Air Travel Co. said "it's our plane." A spokesman said the victims had left Friday on a trip to Florida.

Johnson had filed the flight plans, indicating he might have been at the controls.

praying hands

these hands in prayer
with fingers gently poised
as ten cathedral towers
in humble supplication
gently now reposed
hands that have soothed
the infant's cry,
or, in love, caressed
the wrinkled brow of care,
now lifted up
in prayer!
these praying hands
are yours and mine,
in church,
at work,
or home,
wherever you may be,
hands that speak
unfettered
by space, or haste, or time,
dear lord,
we ask thy guidance
in hour of trial
for, we are thine!

Street Urchins Put In Schools

ORAN, Algeria (UPI) — Some 200 Oran street urchins who earn their living by shining shoes were rounded up Thursday, put out of business and into school.

The move followed last Sunday's herding of shoe shine boys in Algiers into an auditorium on order of Premier Ahmed Ben Bella. The youngsters learned they would be sent to government-paid vocational schools.

Ben Bella said that the parents of the youngsters will receive a subsidy equal to what the children brought home to the families for their work.

praying hands

these hands in prayer
with fingers gently poised
as ten cathedral towers
in humble supplication
gently now reposed
hands that have soothed
the infant's cry,
or, in love, caressed
the wrinkled brow of care,
now lifted up
in prayer!
these praying hands
are yours and mine,
in church,
at work,
or home,
wherever you may be,
hands that speak
unfettered
by space, or haste, or time,
dear lord,
we ask thy guidance
in hour of trial
(for, we are thine)

Street Urchins Put In Schools

ORAN, Algeria (UPI) — Some 200 Oran street urchins who earn their living by shining shoes were rounded up Thursday, put out of business and into school.

The move followed last Sunday's herding of shoe shine boys in Algiers into an auditorium on order of Premier Ahmed Ben Bella. The youngsters learned they would be sent to government-paid vocational schools.

Ben Bella has said that the parents of the youngsters will receive a subsidy equal to what the children brought home to the families for their work.

Ann Landers . . . Answers Your Problems

DEAR ANN LANDERS: Nine years ago I started to save for a trip to Europe. My husband and I are accustomed to frugal living and could easily tour Europe for three months on the $2,000 I will have by July.

I've studied books on England, France, Italy and Switzerland. I've attended travel movies and lectures. I've clipped articles from the travel section of our newspaper. I've even learned French.

The trouble is my husband. He has never shown any enthusiasm for travel. I always thought it was laziness, but now I realize he doesn't want to spend the money. He has suggested we buy a new car instead—or help our son buy a home (we bought our own home)—or just put it away for our old age.

I get sick when I think of the years I've dreamed of this trip. It would be our first vacation in 28 years. He says if I insist, he'll go, but maybe his attitude would spoil my good time. I'd hate to go alone. Please help me.

—ELEANOR H.

DEAR ELEANOR: Insist that your husband go. Plan the vacation activities with HIS interests in mind as well as your own. You know his tastes better than anyone alive.

If he doesn't appreciate art, don't haul him out of bed at dawn to walk his legs off in galleries. Use your noodle and see to it that he has a fine time. Then you can start saving for a trip to the Orient.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: I was surprised that you agreed with "In The Middle." He was crying his eyes out because he was the middle kid in the family and had problems from all sides.

Well, I'm the oldest in a family of seven and I would gladly change places with somebody in the middle. All my life I've had to set an example for everybody.

I've always had to go to bed early because my younger brothers accused my parents of favoritism if I got special privileges. As the oldest, I had to let the younger ones have their way because "they didn't know any better."

If the younger ones got into trouble when my folks were away I caught the blame because I should have "watched them." I wish I could go join that family where the oldest kid gets the privileges. In this family I get only the grief.

—ALSO COMPLAINING

DEAR COMPLAINING: We've heard from the oldest, the one in the middle, and now look at what the youngest has to say:

DEAR ANN LANDERS: The letter from the creep who complained because he was the middle one in the family made me laugh. There is no tougher spot than being the youngest. I know because that's where I am.

I have three older brothers and an older sister. I can't remember ever getting anything to wear that was bought brand new, just for me. My mother always says, "This is too good to throw away."

Secrets Of Charm by John Robert Powers

Suit Your Perfume To The Occasion

Most perfumes possess as much occasion rightness or wrongness as your clothes and accessories.

After a sniff or two, you can easily recognize the differences in their character. A heavy, evening scent is no more appropriate for bus travel in the rush hour than a barefoot dress for office wear.

In fragrances, as with everything, discrimination is the keynote to charm.

If you've once been vexed by someone's inconsiderate wearing of an over-powering scent in a crowded place, you need no other warning against ever making a similar social error yourself. And you need to be disappointed only once by a too-light scent's inability to lend you a glamor aura on an enchanted evening to begin to sniff-test a perfume before you put it on.

Your own nose is your safest guide. It will tell you every time that the scent with a fresh, spicy tang is just as right as your sleek, summer suit for your usual daytime rounds. If the scent you sniff is floral, either bouquet or single blossom, you'll know at once that it is the delicate touch you need for your most airy, feminine dresses.

A woody note, more than likely, will cause a vision of your sport wardrobe to drift across your eyes. Naturally, you will sense that many a fragrance is so well-mannered that it can be worn with assurance for any daytime event as well as after-five occasions.

The rich, sultry attars will fail to pass your sniff-test in the daylight. But you can release their magic on your most bewitching evening and let the compliments fall where they may!

Children's Harness Not Endorsed

The Health Department has received frequent requests for information about approved types of belts or restraining devices for young children.

In answer to these requests the State Health Department has notified the local department that until such time as these devices are approved by an organization such as the Society of Engineers, the Health Department will not officially endorse any belt or shoulder harness for children.

ASC Lists Benefits Of Farm Program

Two important benefits available to farmers for participating in the 1963 feed grain program are income protection and reduced production costs, Brady H. Dolly, chairman of Allegheny County Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Committee said yesterday.

The sign-up for the feed grain program is now under way and Mr. Dolly urged interested growers to visit the ASCS county office, 126 Union Street, at an early date to avoid a last-minute rush.

The reduced production costs resulting from program participation are self-evident, Mr. Dolly said, since the grower takes part in the program by reducing his acreage of corn, grain sorghum, or barley, by at least 20 per cent of the feed grain base acreage. Since he plants fewer acres, his planting and other production costs are less.

The income protection comes from the diversion and price-support payments, both of which are based on the "normal" rather than the "actual" production of the farm's feed grain acreage. Both payments will be made regardless of whether the feed grain is sold or fed to animals on the farm where grown.

A farmer taking part in the feed grain program also becomes eligible to put his entire 1963 production of corn, grain sorghum and barley under the regular price-support loan or purchase agreement.

Affront To A Good Neighbor

For as long as citizens of either country can remember, the border between Canada and the United States has been more imaginary than real. Certainly the two countries have had their official differences, largely related to the considerable U. S. investment in Canadian industry and mining. But the relationship of the peoples in these neighbor countries is a long, proud and friendly one.

Because of an extraordinary breach in diplomacy, the coolness now separating Washington and Ottawa is not altogether climatic. A temporary lull in the dispute is now upon us while Canada prepares for a national election precipitated by the U. S. State Department when it said Canada had better soon stop vacillating and accept nuclear warheads.

As the Canadian campaign gets under way, Americans will be reminded again and again of this slip of the tongue, if that is what it was. Perhaps someone in Washington thought he actually had the right to tell Canada what to do, or maybe the new breed of diplomat has been weaned on a wagging tongue instead of tact and resourceful persuasion.

Whatever Washington hoped to gain, nuclear missiles in Canada are not likely to be one of the results. The Washington intimation that Ottawa is less than diligent in accepting conventional arms which even the U. S. has found cause to praise in the defense of Europe will be long remembered north of the border.

These Days

By John Chamberlain

Fair For All

The Amish people of Ohio and Lancaster County in Pennsylvania, who have religious scruples about becoming wards in any way of the Welfare State, are petitioning Congress to exempt them from the system of compulsory Social Security. No doubt all congenial individualists should wish the Amish well in their quest. But I, for one, would resent the favoritism implied if one group is relieved of the spiritual degradation of having to be carried on Big Brother State's books as a bunch of nine-digit numbers while others have to put up with it.

You see, my objection to the philosophy of the Welfare State is fundamentally religious, too. I am not a member of the Amish sect, or, indeed, of any organized religious group. But my feeling about the nature of man is such that I think it all wrong when human beings are compelled in such things as this matter of saving for their old age. God, to my way of thinking, gave people the grace of free will with the idea that they should exercise it without a cop standing over them at every important turn in their lives.

In this country there is supposed to be such a thing as equal protection of the law: the legal privileges and immunities of the citizen are, theoretically, equal. This doctrine derives from the Christian belief that every soul is equal in the sight of God. Of course, the whole concept of legal equality actually went by the boards years ago. The progressive income tax, for example, makes all sorts of exemptions for all sorts of people's dollars. A rich man's high-bracket dollars are nicked at a much higher rate than a poor man's—unless the rich man happens to have invested his money in municipal tax-exempt bonds or in expeditions devoted to exploring for new sources of oil.

Inequality before the law is built into the whole tissue of our economy. A man who gives his money to organized charity gets a tax break—but my extreme individualist friend Harry Serwer, an advertising man who gives his money on principle to needy individuals, is given no deductions for his benevolences. A man in the writing business would be laughed out of his Congressman's anteroom if he were to ask for a federal price support for his words if editors declined to pay him a certain rate. Farmers, on the other hand, receive price supports for their produce as a matter of course. Are words, then, less deserving of equity than wheat?

The idea that we still live by the old principle of justice that prescribes equality of privileges and immunities is, in practice, strictly for the birds as the degenerate modern age sees it. Well, my religious view of life is such that I am profoundly offended by this state of affairs. My Creator, I am deeply convinced, did not put me on earth to be a ward of the State in any shape or manner.

For the act of making me a ward, whether it is as a subsidized consumer or producer or as a recipient of Medicare or whatever, invites the forcible seizure of some poor devil's substance in order to take care of me. Morally and religiously, this is wrong. It is an offense against the commandment that makes theft a sin. It is also an offense against the idea that the legal privileges and immunities of free men should be equal.

Now, if the Amish people are to be exempted from compulsory Social Security on religious grounds, I claim that I should be exempted, too. I take my stand on the fundamental insights of Christianity, as exemplified in all the documents that formed the thinking of the Founding Fathers of the Republic. Can it be right that an Amish farmer should be granted something for religious reasons that is denied other staunch believers in the religious sanctions of Christian individualism? Must we all become adherents to the Amish cult to have the blessings of liberty restored to us?

I hold no animosity against the Amish; indeed, I admire their spunk. But what about those of us whose religion is of a personal, unorganized character? Are we to be discriminated against simply because we can't shout loud enough to prove that our God is against compulsion in Social Security, too?

This Must Be The Way To Disarmament

Castro Plays Mao's Game In Sino-Soviet Row

WASHINGTON

Besides President Kennedy's pen-pal relationship with Nikita S. Khrushchev, the Soviet decision to reduce the Russian troop strength in Cuba has another kind of political background.

It is too early to calculate just how the Kremlin's Cuban policy is being affected by the increasingly visible triangular tensions between Khrushchev, Fidel Castro, and Mao Tse-tung. But it is time to search for effects, since the Khrushchev attitude to Castro must certainly be influenced rather sharply by Castro's attitude to the Chinese.

The point is that a struggle is now in progress, between the Chinese and the Soviets, for control of the Communist movement in Central and South America. And in this crucial struggle for a really great prize, Castro is now aiding the Chinese rather than the Soviets.

Documents captured from the Communist guerrillas now operating in northeast Brazil place the pattern of the struggle, as well as Castro's role in it, beyond much doubt. The rather inefficient Brazilian guerrillas are, first of all, activists with Chinese sympathies who have split with the main Brazilian Communist party, whose leaders are at least formally loyal to Moscow.

Furthermore, these Chinese-sympathizing guerrillas who are defying the Muscovite-leaning Brazilian party leadership, also claim to be following the brave example of Cuba's maximal leader. And they have received both encouragement and covert aid from the Castro government.

In Venezuela the pattern is equally clear, but in the Venezuelan Communist party, the pro-Chinese activists now appear to enjoy a majority. This majority faction, which has launched the terrorist campaign against President Betancourt's government, are bitterly at odds with the pro-Moscow minority.

As in Brazil, moreover, the Chinese-leaning Venezuelan activists boast of imitating Castro, and they are receiving money and other support, by secret channels, from the Castro government. Large transfers of funds from Havana to Ecuador have also been made rather recently. And this money, intended to start another campaign of Communist terrorism, is believed to have been supplied to Castro by his Chinese friends.

If the Brazilian documents were not quite enough to reveal the peculiarity of the Khrushchev-Castro-Mao triangle, it could well be deduced by what happened at the Afro-Asian Conference at Moshi, in Tanganyika. Here an ably-led Chinese Communist delegation scored two major successes.

By Joseph Alsop

The Chinese first of all humiliated the Indians, causing the Indian resolution censuring Chinese aggression to be rejected out-of-hand, in such a manner that the Indian delegation briefly left the conference. More important still, the Chinese secured the appointment of a planning committee, to prepare an Asian-African-Latin American conference, on the Bandung model, to be held in Havana at a rather early date.

Something of the danger of such a conference to the Soviets may be judged from the events at the East German Communist party congress in Berlin in December. Here the Chilean and Cuban delegates were the only Latin Americans permitted to take the floor.

All the others were asked, like the overtly pro-Chinese delegates from Asian countries, simply to hand in their observations in writing. The suggestion is clear that the Latin American party leaders are not trusted even though pro-Soviets are still thought to command majorities in all the Latin American parties except that in Venezuela. Meanwhile the Cuban made the only pro-Chinese address delivered at Berlin without storms of boing.

At the projected Asian-African-Latin American conference in Havana, the Soviets, as Russians, would be excluded by the terms of the program. As at Moshi, Khrushchev would have to get into the act by the backdoor, by sending one of the Soviet Central Asian party functionaries.

As at Moshi, once again, Khrushchev's pseudo-Asian would surely be run rings around by the Chinese delegation. At Havana, moreover, the Chinese delegation would most probably be extremely high-powered. To this high-powered and persuasive Chinese group, all representatives of the Latin American Communist parties attending the meeting would be insidiously and continuously exposed.

In sum, if the Chinese success at Moshi really produces the planned result at Havana, this Asian-African-Latin American rally could be a major turning point, very damaging for Moscow, in the tense struggle for leadership of the Latin American Communist movement. And once again, Fidel Castro, as proud host and partial inspirer of the rally, would be playing Peking's game.

Altogether, it can be seen from these facts that the Cuban problem is a bit more complicated than some of the Cuba-obsessed members of Congress seem to think.

By Henry Cathcart

TAX-CUT PROGRAM — President Kennedy's fiscal lieutenants already are suggesting compromise proposals to replace several of the administration's tax-cut features that are proving unpopular on Capitol Hill. It's likely that a lot more compromising will be in order before the final form of the bill emerges from the congressional mill.

Thus far the principal target of criticism has been the $2.3 billion the administration wants to recapture from individuals who itemize their deductions, rather than using the standard form. And by no odd coincidence, this feature is the one that is attracting most of the compromise talk.

The idea being promoted by the Treasury is to rescule the graduated income tax rates to provide a cut of $2.3 billion less than under the present plan, and to abandon the proposed new formula for figuring deductions. It's apparent that administration soundings show that the deductions proposal can't get through Congress; now, the administration is looking for ways of holding the tax cut within the limits it proposed last month.

Without judging the merits of the proposal, the rush to propose compromises has proved damaging to administration recommendations in the past. And the current situation shows no signs of having a different outcome.

Kennedy administration lieutenants have been accused of hurting legislative chances of federal aid to education and medical care for the aged by offering compromises too quickly on Capitol Hill. Conversely, when the administration has stood firm, as it did in last year's Foreign Trade Bill fight, it got all it asked.

Since Kennedy has entered the White House the favorite definition of politics — "the art of the possible" — has been much on the tongues of official Washington. But proponents of the administration's tax-cut, tax-reform program, and other legislative goals claim that cutting the ground out from under them is no way to get a bill through Congress.

Campus Frustrations Keep Psychiatrists Busy

By Dr. Theodore R. Van Dellen

The competition in a modern college or university is so great, local psychiatrists are kept busy trying to keep many students on an even keel. Disturbed relationships with parents are common and some students become severely frustrated when they fail to come up to parental expectations. A large percentage are able to resolve their problems but failure to do so may end in mental illness or even suicide. A social behavior also has been traced to emotional turmoil. Among these problems are vandalism, cheating on tests, theft of books, and preoccupation with anti-intellectual activities. Others make poor grades compared with their ability. Psychiatrists often find these students emotionally immature and in general "mixed up kids."

They were overprotected as children and reach college with no awareness of the value of money, the need to buckle down, or the incentive to cultivate real character. As a result, their integrity drops a peg or two. They prefer to push the tricks of the trade—the shortcuts and compromises that bring good grades but not intellectual accomplishments.

Parents often do not realize how much help these young men and women need. Campus pressures both encourage and inhibit maturity and independence. The faculty is likely to be more interested in intellectual development than in character development. We realize that it may not be the job of the instructors and administrators to emphasize self-discipline but it is surprising how we remember the professors who influenced our way of living and fostered a desire to learn.

More and more institutions are adding skilled personnel to help college students gain an insight into the nature and origin of their difficulties. They must learn to appreciate the attitudes of their parents, and the lifelong advantages of integrity. This knowledge is not to be found in books and a Phi Beta Kappa key is a poor substitute for real happiness.

Try And Stop Me

By Bennett Cerf

Bill Saroyan, author of "Daring Young Man on the Flying Trapeze" fame, returned one day in triumph after he had made a fortune, to the San Francisco grocery store where he had clerked briefly in his youth. Everybody crowded round to hear the famous man give his views on life and love. Later the proprietor of the grocery store was asked, "What was the most important thing Saroyan said?" The proprietor answered testily, "He didn't say anything important. All he did was eat up my fruit."

Buddy Hackett tells about a farmer who led his fifty-four cows out to pasture one morning, but counted only fifty three when they came back to the barn at sundown. A recount still showed one cow missing. So the farmer went outside the barn and yelled at the top of his lungs, "Cow Number Fifty Four, Where Are You?"

Castroites Threaten Betancourt As Birchites Attack Him As Pro-Red

By Drew Pearson

Betancourt, for Smot, who operates from Dallas, receives financial contributions from the Texas oil crowd; is also sponsored on the air by Dr. Ross' dog food, whose owner, D. B. Lewis, is one of the right-wing leaders of California. Lewis was a financial backer of Dr. Fred C. Schwarz and his so-called Christian anti-Communist crusade; while his advertising agents, Hamilton Stone Associates, has warned newspaper ad managers that the editorial content of newspapers would be studied before ads were placed in liberal papers.

Dan Smoot's Tirade

In a bitter attack on the Alliance for Progress, Dan Smoot blasted Betancourt's regime in Venezuela as a "cesspool of corruption and tyranny," when as a matter of fact it has been a model of clean government.

Smoot also charged it with "grinding poverty and wild disorder." He went on to praise Perez Jimenez, the recent dictator of Venezuela, as having brought "the best government and highest level of prosperity in history."

Real fact is that the Perez Jimenez administration was one of the most brutal dictatorships in recent Caribbean history.

His chief of secret police, Pedro Estrada, bought from Henry Winston, New York jeweler, a fabulous necklace costing $400,000. Simultaneously, Pedro Estrada filled Venezuelan jails with political prisoners and operated torture chambers that were the scandal of the western hemisphere.

The dictator maintained three palatial mansions, and the men around him created a scandal by taking on additional wives and mistresses. The richer they got, the more brazen they were in kicking out old wives for new ones.

The Catholic church was one of the severest critics of the Perez Jimenez Regime.

In blasting Betancourt, Dan Smoot quotes from ex-Congressman John Russell of California, now governor of the John Birch Society for the western states, and recently defeated for congressional reelection, berating President Kennedy for visiting Venezuela last year.

"Before he (Kennedy) departed," Rousselot claimed, "he was persuaded to deliver a series of speeches, obviously prepared for him by his collectivist aides, hailing the alleged progress of Venezuela under Betancourt and pledging generous American loans."

"Rousselot's words," said Dan Smoot, "do not adequately portray the shameful behavior of the American President while visiting Communist Betancourt."

So runs the right wing attacks on the chief battler against Communism in Latin America—lining up, as frequently happens, the Communists and the right-wingers together.

Washington Wit

Dave Powers, the White House jester, spurned a beer and reached for a mint julep at a recent party. "I can drink beer when I go back to Boston," he explained.

"Right now, I'm living high on the hog" . . . Anthony Celebrezze, the Secretary of Health, Education, and Welfare, asked Postmaster General J. Edward Day recently how he managed to get his name in the newspapers so often. Confided Day: "I have a man who is in charge of my passion for anonymity. He is a complete incompetent" . . . The first-class postage increase from four to five cents produced a rush on one-cent stamps. A reporter, knowing Postmaster General Day's reputation for wit, phoned him and asked him to make a funny comment. Retorted Day: "I don't think it's funny at all. I have always said that an increase in post rates made cents." Then he hung up, leaving the reporter to ponder the pun . . . Day was once out-punned by his No. 2 man, Fred Belen, who had just returned from testing same-day mail delivery in his hometown of Lansing, Mich. At a telephone conference with 15 regional offices, Day called on Belen for a detailed report and introduced him as "that intrepid warrior, Sir Lansing Lot 'Belen'."

Cracked back Belen: "As Sir Lansing Lot, I am a knight working for Day."

Milwaukee Revisited

By John Crosby

MILWAUKEE

We paused, my two brothers and I, in front of a magnificent stone edifice with a great round stone tower, a wide stone porch and stained glass windows. "Remember when Gus Blatz hit Bill Sivyver on the back of the head with a steel pipe on that porch?" said my brother. Our childhood was fairly bloody.

My brothers and I were wandering around the streets we used to play in as kids. The houses are still there like ghosts of our childhood, and what houses they are! Milwaukee Gothic, I call it, though there is a bit of Venice, of the French provinces, of Valencia. Turreted, frescoed, cupolaed, porched, gabled, many-windowed. By George, when you hired an architect in 1905, he did not just draw you a picture of a cigarette package with naked windows. He drew little round windows of colored glass, big bay windows, octagon-shaped windows, porticoes of stone, pilnths, columns, colonades, flying buttresses. Inside he put dining rooms, drawing rooms, sewing rooms, maids' rooms, laundry rooms, libraries, maids' dining rooms, dens for the master, and nurseries for the children. Ballrooms, too, but only if you were really rich.

We walked down Lake Drive under the elms past the old Sivyver house, the Ott house, the Landauer house, arguing about who lived where. An old lady peered out of a window at three middle-aged men arguing in front of the house where Bill Messenger used to live. She was a stranger. Didn't belong there at all. (Probably lived there for years.)

REPLY I don't know but your experience shows there are exceptions to every rule. Relapses are not unusual but recurrences are.

NO INSULIN PILLS A. W. writes: Can insulin for diabetes be taken by mouth, instead of in shots?

REPLY No. Insulin is not absorbed by the stomach and intestine and, despite all the advances in medical science, no one has been able to develop an insulin pill that works. The anti-diabetic pills do not contain insulin.

RHEUMATIC HEART U. E. writes: How is a rheumatic heart diagnosed?

REPLY Most victims have a history of rheumatic fever; murmur, indicating leakage of a valve; an abnormality in the size and shape of the heart; and changes in the electrocardiogram compatible with this type of heart disease.

BUFFALO HUMP G. J. writes: What causes dowager's hump — the lump at the back of the neck? I am only 5 pounds overweight.

REPLY Poor posture, fatigue, and overweight usually play a role.

To the limit of space questions pertaining to the prevention of diseases will be answered. Personal replies will be made when return stamped envelope is enclosed. Telephone inquiries not accepted. Dr. Van Dellen will not make diagnoses or prescribe for individual diseases.

A London lawyer was awarded one halfpenny damages in a court suit. Let's hope he doesn't blow it all in at once.

Colleagues are now vying with each other to see who can stay the longest in the spinning interior of clothes dryers. That's the dizziest fad yet!

Netherlands Parliament members assail De Gaulle's Common Market action. Now, Charley's in Dutch with the Dutch!

my brother Ned. Of course, I remembered the fire. The firemen had tramped in, in their rubber boots, and hacked away at that ugly walnut and we'd all had a marvelous time. The present owner stared at us mournfully as if he were afraid we were going to sell him something, so we went away without asking to see more, although I wanted to see the third floor, where my room was.

We went on down Lake Drive past the old Gill house, past the Norris house, past Gordon MacLaren's house where we had a children's party I still have pictures of. We went over the railroad tracks on the viaduct from which a friend of my father's had plunged over in a car and killed himself. "I remember chasing Rene Von Scheinleit home from school every day down those tracks during the First World War because we thought he was a German spy," I said. Rene Von Scheinleit and I were about six years old at the time but spy scares in that war were pretty wild.

Then we stopped in front of the Ambassador Apartments, overlooking Lake Michigan, where we spent our teenage years. "Let's go in," said Freddie, the bold one. We took the elevator which wasn't there when we were kids to the fourth floor and rang the bell at apartment 39. A little gray-haired lady answered the door.

"We were kids here," explained Freddie.

"Come right in," said the little old lady as if she'd been expecting us.

"My brother John," said Ned to the little old lady, "once carved his name in the cement under a window with a chisel. We want to see if it's still there." We went to the back bedroom, lifted out the screen, and there it was. "J. Crosby," almost as bright as the day I carved it to while away the tedium when I had mumps at the age of 12.

My brother Freddie propelled the little old lady into the bathroom and pointed to a round hole. "Know what that is? That's where my kid brother Donnie fired a 22-caliber bullet through the bathroom door to see if it would ricochet."

"My goodness!" said the little old lady.

What I like about Milwaukee is that the footprints of my childhood are all still in the sand. A New York guy trying to retrace his footsteps would never find the bullet holes. Or even the building.

Tiger-Fullmer Championship Bout Tonight

Middleweights In 15-Rounder At Las Vegas

Nigerian Favored To Retain Crown Won In October

By HAL WOOD
UPI Sports Writer

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (UPI)—World middleweight champion Dick Tiger places his newly-won crown on the line Saturday night for the first time in a scheduled 15-round rematch with former kingpin Gene Fullmer.

The 33-year-old Nigerian, who easily whipped Fullmer to win the title in San Francisco last October, has been installed as a 7-2 favorite to win again.

The fight, featuring two of the world's greatest brawlers, will attract a $100,000 gate to the Las Vegas Convention Center, which has a seating capacity of 8,100.

The bout will be nationally televised (ABC) starting at 10 p.m. EST.

Weight Presents No Problem

Both fighters expect to make the weight limit of 160 pounds without too much difficulty.

Despite the lopsided betting he took in their last bout, Fullmer is confident he can win this time. "I wouldn't be fighting Tiger again if I didn't think I could lick him," said the 31-year-old Moroccan elder. "I'll change my style some and hope that makes the difference."

Fullmer refuses to use an alibi the fact that he had dysentery during the last bout. Generally noted as one of the strongest men pound for pound, in the ring, Fullmer was bled all over the square by Tiger in their first battle.

Had Physicals

Both fighters underwent physical examinations Friday and then just loafed while waiting the weigh-in Saturday at 11 a.m.

"I plan to use the same style of fighting I used in the first bout," said Tiger. "But this time I'm the champion and he'll have to come to me. And I like to fight men who are coming in."

Tiger goes into the ring with a record of 41 wins, 12 losses, and two draws. He has scored 21 knockouts during his career.

Fullmer has won 55 fights and lost only five, with two draws. He has scored 24 knockouts. He wore the middleweight crown twice, winning once from Sugar Ray Robinson, losing it back to Robinson when he suffered the only knockout of his career. He then beat Carmen Basilio for Robinson's NBA-vacated crown in 1959, scoring a 14th round kayo. He held the title until Tiger took it away from him last fall.

Each man will receive 30 percent of the gate receipts and television rights—which should come to about 160,000 to each for the evening's work.

Chicha Survives Foul Claim, Wins At Santa Anita

ARCADIA, Calif. (UPI)—Front-running Chicha scored a wire-to-wire victory Friday at Santa Anita in the $28,400 Santa Barbara Handicap for fillies and mares on the turf course but had to survive a claim of foul to retain her win.

Chicha and Errcountess brushed together on the final turn and jockey Pete Moreno lodged a foul claim against the winner although his mount finished third while the fast-closing Barnesville Miss got up for second.

But the stewards ruled that the incident was as much Errcountess' fault as the winner's and would not allow the foul claim to stand.

Chicha raced the 1 1/4 miles in 2:02 3/5 and paid $8.80, $4.60 and $3.40.

Salem And Tech Clash In Finals

CHARLESTON, W. Va. (UPI)—Charlie Kelly tossed in a jump shot from about 15 feet out with 38 seconds left in an overtime period to give West Virginia Tech a 73-71 win over Morris Harvey and upstate Salem edged Wesleyan 72-69 in the semifinals of the West Virginia Conference tournament Friday night.

Tech will meet Salem for the championship Saturday night and Morris Harvey will take on Wesleyan in a consolation game.

Tech found a hot hand in the second half, hitting on 17 of 27 shots from the floor. Mike Barrett, whose jump shot with 34 seconds remaining in regulation time sent the game into overtime at 67-67 led the Tech scoring with 28 points and Kelly had 22.

Jerry Moore led the Morris Harvey scoring with 27 points and Dick O'Neal added 23 points.

Bill Dawson Is Finalist In Mat Meet

Keyser 115-Pounder Defeats Maupin, 2-0

Bill Dawson, of Keyser High School, advanced another step toward his second straight West Virginia wrestling title Friday when he scored a 2-0 decision over Joe Maupin, of Moundsville, in the semi-final round of the 115-pound class of the state tournament at the West Virginia University field house.

Dawson, winner of the state 103-pound championship in 1962, will grapple Roger Anderson, of Shady Springs, in the finals Saturday at 1 p.m. Anderson was the winner over Joe Jarrell, of Madison.

Don Healy, of Brekeley Springs High School, became a finalist in the 168-pound class, when he pinned Darlyle Channing of Weirton. Wayne Weber, of Berkeley Springs, however, was eliminated by Jackson Nunnery, of Madison, in the opening round of the 98-pound class, 11 to 10.

George Kyne, Brekeley Springs 106-pounder, suffered a neck injury in practice and did not make the trip to the tournament.

West Virginia Plays Colonials

Catlett Suspended By Mountaineers

MORGANTOWN, W. Va. (UPI)—West Virginia meets George Washington here Saturday night in the final game of the regular season and three Mountaineers, including Rod Thorn, will bid adieu to the homefolk.

Thorn, backcourt mate Jim McCormick and center Dave Shuck will be playing their last home game for the Mountaineers.

The Mountaineers will be playing without the services of senior forward Gale Catlett, who was suspended indefinitely following his second fracas in a week.

In the Pitt game here Feb. 13, Catlett got into a fight with Brian Generalovich shortly after the second half started. Both were ejected from that game.

Of Wednesday night's incident, when Catlett knocked down Penn State's Terry Hoover and broke his nose, coach George King said Catlett "was at fault all the way. He won't dress for the George Washington game. After that, we don't know."

King left open the possibility that Catlett will start in the Southern Conference tournament scheduled to open in Richmond, Va., next Friday.

With Catlett out, King said he plans to start either Don Weir or Bill Maphis in his place.

WVU Football Receipts Up

MORGANTOWN, W. Va. (UPI)—West Virginia University receipts from 1962 football games netted 14 per cent more money than the previous season, athletic director Robert N. Brown said Thursday.

Ten games grossed $267,704, from which $109,901 went for expenses, Brown said. The net of $157,803 compared with net receipts of $138,965 collected during the 1961 season.

Expenses include guarantees to visiting teams, game operation items and taxes, Brown said. Paid admissions to the home football games in 1962 totaled 36,399, excluding WVU students, faculty members and staff, high school bands and teams, and other school groups and non-paying admissions.

Brown also noted that basketball receipts last year netted $41,704, 203 after expenses totaling $41,704.

203 after expenses totaling $41,704.

Palmer Gets Post At Coronita Club

CORONA, Calif. (UPI)—Negotiations were reported to have been completed Friday for installation of golfer Arnold Palmer as touring club pro of the new Mountain View Country Club at Coronita, a suburb of this southern California city.

Owner and builder Al Arnold said he had been in conference all week with Palmer's attorneys, and that all that remained for completion of the negotiations was the noted golf pro's signature on a contract.

The first nine holes of the multimillion-dollar development, which includes 178 estate-type homes, is scheduled to be opened March 2.

Crimson Satan, Kelso To Vie In Rich Handicaps

Race At Hialeah And Santa Anita

By ORLO ROBERTSON
Associated Press Sports Writer

Kelso and Crimson Satan, favorites to battle it out for Horse of the Year honors on the basis of early-season performances, put their reputations on the line Saturday in two widely separated $100,000-plus handicaps.

Kelso, 6-year-old gelding from Mrs. Richard C. duPont's Bohemia Stable, opposes eight rivals in the Widener Handicap at Hialeah Park, Crimson Satan, 4-year-old chestnut from the Crimmon Kingfarm of Peter Salmen Sr., goes against 14 class performers in the Santa Anita Handicap at Santa Anita Park. Both races are at 1 1/4 miles.

$83,720 For Winner
With nine starters, the Widener purse will be $128,800 with $83,720 going to the winner. The Santa Anita carries a $145,000 guaranteed purse, regardless of the number of starters, with the winner sure of getting $100,000.

Kelso, already winner of the Horse of the Year honors three successive years and the richest gelding in turf history with a bankroll of $1,082,760, is a stand-out in the Widener. Early odds quoted him at 3-5 even though he'll pack 131 pounds and give as much as 21 to his rivals.

The only horse that appears capable of offering the Bohemia ace a serious argument is the speedy Beau Purple from the Hobeau Farm. Beau Purple, carrying 125 pounds, twice whipped Kelso last year and just could do it again should he be permitted to take a long early lead. The Hobeau Farm also is sending along Kilmorey as a running mate for its star 5-year-old. The entry was the 3-1 second choice in pre-race quotations.

Others named Friday were Bronze Babu 116; Jay Fox and Sunrise Flight 114; Try Cash and Puro 112 and Heroshogala 110. Kilmorey also carries 110. Ismael Valenzuela rides Kelso and Bill Boland pilots Beau Purple.

Wins Two Rich Events
From a competitive standpoint, the Santa Anita 'Cap shapes up as a better race even though Crimson Satan already has won two of the West Coast track's rich events. The Satan, with Herb Hinglova in the saddle, carries top weight of 125 pounds and is the 2-1 choice.

Fred Hooper's Crozier, in with 122 pounds, and Lynn Boice's Physician, last year's surprise winner and in at 120 pounds, figure to be the co-second choices at around 5-1 with the El Peco Ranch's Decidedly, 1962 Kentucky Derby Winner, next in line at 6-1. Tiger-Fullmer Championship Bout Tonight

Nigerian Favored To Retain Crown Won In October

By HAL WOOD
UPI Sports Writer

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (UPI)—World middleweight champion Dick Tiger places his newly-won crown on the line Saturday night for the first time in a scheduled 15-round rematch with former kinsman Gene Fullmer.

The 33-year-old Nigerian, who easily whipped Fullmer to win the title in San Francisco last October, has been installed as a 7-2 favorite to win again.

The fight, featuring two of the world's greatest brawlers, will attract a $100,000 gate to the Las Vegas Convention Center, which has a seating capacity of 8,100.

The bout will be nationally televised (ABC) starting at 10 p.m. EST.

Weight Presents No Problem

Both fighters expect to make the weight limit of 160 pounds without too much difficulty.

Despite the lopsided betting, Fullmer is confident he can win this time.

"I wouldn't be fighting Tiger again if I didn't think I could lick him," said the 31-year-old Mormon elder. "I'll change my style some and hope that makes the difference."

Fullmer refuses to use as an alibi the fact that he had dysentery during the last bout. Generally noted as one of the strongest men, pound for pound, in the ring, Fullmer was bullied all over the square by Tiger in their first battle.

Had Physicals

Both fighters underwent physical examinations Friday and then just loafed while waiting the weigh-in Saturday at 11 a.m.

"I plan to use the same style of fighting I used in the first bout," said Tiger. "But this time I'm the champion and he'll have to come to me. And I like to fight men who are coming in."

Tiger goes into the ring with a record of 41 wins, 12 losses, and two draws. He has scored 21 knockouts during his career.

Fullmer has won 55 fights and lost only five, with two draws. He has scored 24 knockouts. He wore the middleweight crown twice, winning once from Sugar Ray Robinson, losing it back to Robinson when he suffered the only knockout of his career. He then beat Carmen Basilio for Robinson's NBA-vacated crown in 1959, scoring a 14th round kayo. He held the title until Tiger took it away from him last fall.

Each man will receive 30 per cent of the gate receipts and television rights—which should come to about 160,000 to each for the evening's work.

Chicha Survives Foul Claim, Wins At Santa Anita

ARCADIA, Calif. (UPI)—Front-running Chicha scored a wire-to-wire victory Friday at Santa Anita in the $28,400 Santa Barbara Handicap for fillies and mares on the turf course but had to survive a claim of foul to retain her win.

Chicha and Errcountess brushed together on the final turn and jockey Pete Moreno lodged a foul claim against the winner although his mount finished third while the fast-closing Barnsville Miss got up for second.

But the stewards ruled that the incident was as much Errcountess' fault as the winner's and would not allow the foul claim to stand.

Chicha raced the 1 1/4 miles in 2:02 3/5 and paid $8.80, $4.60 and $3.40.

Salem And Tech Clash In Finals

CHARLESTON, W. Va. (UPI)—Charlie Kelly tossed in a jump shot from about 15 feet out with 38 seconds left in an overtime period to give West Virginia Tech a 73-71 win over Morris Harvey and upstate Salem edged Wesleyan 72-69 in the semifinals of the West Virginia Conference tournament Friday night.

Tech will meet Salem for the championship Saturday night and Morris Harvey will take on Wesleyan in a consolation game.

Tech found a hot hand in the second half, hitting on 17 of 27 shots from the floor. Mike Barrett, whose jump shot with 34 seconds remaining, in regulation time sent the game into overtime at 67-67 led the Tech scoring with 28 points and Kelly had 22.

Jerry Moore led the Morris Harvey scoring with 27 points and Dick O'Neal added 23 points.

Bill Dawson Is Finalist In Mat Meet

Keyser 115-Pounder Defeats Maupin, 2-0

Bill Dawson, of Keyser High School, advanced another step toward his second straight West Virginia wrestling title Friday when he scored a 2-0 decision over Joe Maupin, of Moundsville, in the semi-final round of the 115-pound class of the state tournament at the West Virginia University field house.

Dawson, winner of the state 103-pound championship in 1962, will grapple Roger Anderson, of Shady Springs, in the finals Saturday at 1 p.m. Anderson was the winner over Joe Jarrell, of Madison.

Don Healy, of Brekeley Springs High School, became a finalist in the 168-pound class, when he pinned Darlyle Channing of Weirton.

Wayne Weber, of Berkeley Springs, however, was eliminated by Jackson Nunery, of Madison, in the opening round of the 98-pound class, 11 to 10.

George Kyne, Brekeley Springs' 106-pounder, suffered a neck injury in practice and did not make the trip to the tournament.

West Virginia Plays Colonials

Catlett Suspended By Mountaineers

MORGANTOWN, W. Va. (UPI)—West Virginia meets George Washington here Saturday night in the final game of the regular season and three Mountaineers, including Rod Thorn, will bid adieu to the homefolk.

Thorn, backcourt mate Jim McCormick and center Dave Shuck will be playing their last home game for the Mountaineers.

The Mountaineers will be playing without the services of senior forward Gale Catlett, who was suspended indefinitely following his second fracas in a week.

In the Pitt game here Feb. 13, Catlett got into a fight with Brian Generalovich shortly after the second half started. Both were ejected from that game.

Of Wednesday night's incident, when Catlett knocked down Penn State's Terry Hoover and broke his nose, coach George King said Catlett "was at fault all the way. He won't dress for the George Washington game. After that, we don't know."

King left open the possibility that Catlett will start in the Southern Conference tournament scheduled to open in Richmond, Va., next Friday.

With Catlett out, King said he plans to start either Don Weir or Bill Maphis in his place.

WVU Football Receipts Up

MORGANTOWN, W. Va. (UPI)—West Virginia University receipts from 1962 football games netted 14 per cent more money than the previous season, athletic director Robert N. Brown said Thursday.

Ten games grossed $267,704, from which $109,901 went for expenses, Brown said. The net of $157,803 compared with net receipts of $138,965 collected during the 1961 season.

Expenses include guarantees to visiting teams, game operation items and taxes, Brown said. Paid admissions to the home football games in 1962 totaled 36,399, excluding WVU students, faculty members and staff, high school bands and teams, and other school groups and non-paying admissions.

Brown also noted that basketball receipts last year netted $41,203 after expenses totaling $41,704.

Chicha raced the 1 1/4 miles in 2:02 3/5 and paid $8.80, $4.60 and $3.40.

CORONA, Calif. (UPI)—Negotiations were reported to have been completed Friday for installation of golfer Arnold Palmer as touring club pro of the new Mountain View Country Club at Coronita, a suburb of this southern California city.

Owner and builder Al Arnold said he had been in conference all week with Palmer's attorneys, and that all that remained for completion of the negotiations was the noted golf pro's signature on a contract.

The first nine holes of the multimillion-dollar development, which includes 178 estate-type homes, is scheduled to be opened March 2.

Crimson Satan, Kelso To Vie In Rich Handicaps

Race At Hialeah And Santa Anita

By ORLO ROBERTSON
Associated Press Sports Writer

Kelso and Crimson Satan, favorites to battle it out for Horse of the Year honors on the basis of early-season performances, put their reputations on the line Saturday in two widely separated $100,000-plus handicaps.

Kelso, 6-year-old gelding from Mrs. Richard C. duPont's Bohemia Stable, opposes eight rivals in the Widener Handicap at Hialeah Park. Crimson Satan, 4-year-old chestnut from the Crimson King Farm of Peter Salmen Sr., goes against 14 class performers in the Santa Anita Handicap at Santa Anita Park. Both races are at 1 1/4 miles.

With nine starters, the Widener purse will be $128,800 with $83,720 going to the winner. The Santa Anita carries a $145,000 guaranteed purse, regardless of the number of starters, with the winner sure of getting $100,000.

Kelso, already winner of the Horse of the Year honors three successive years and the richest gelding in turf history with a bankroll of $1,082,760, is a stand-out in the Widener. Early odds quoted him at 3-5 even though he'll pack 131 pounds and give as much as 21 to his rivals.

The only horse that appears capable of offering the Bohemia ace a serious argument is the speedy Beau Purple from the Hobeau Farm. Beau Purple, carrying 125 pounds, twice whipped Kelso last year and just could do it again should he be permitted to take a long early lead. The Hobeau Farm also is sending along Kilmorey as a running mate for its star 5-year-old. The entry was the 3-1 second choice in pre-race quotations.

Others named Friday were: Bronze Babu 116; Jay Fox and Sunrise Flight 114; Try Cash and Prego 112 and Heroshogala 110. Kilmorey also carries 110. Ismael Valenzuela rides Kelso and Bill Boland pilots Beau Purple.

From a competitive standpoint, the Santa Anita 'Cap shapes up as a better race even though Crimson Satan already has won two of the West Coast track's richest events. The Satan, with Herb Hijo in the saddle, carries top weight of 125 pounds and is the 2-1 choice.

Fred Hooper's Crozier, in with 122 pounds, and Lynn Boice's Physician, last year's surprise winner and in at 120 pounds, figure to be the co-second choices at around 5-1 with the El Peco Ranch's Decidedly. 1962 Kentucky Derby winner, next in line at 6-1. Decidedly gets in with 118. Rex Ellsworth's consistent Olden Times also may come in for strong support. He picks up 121 pounds with Bill Shoemaker in the saddle.

Minke, Law, Ruge
Certified Hunter
Safety Instructors

WASHINGTON, D. C., Feb. 20
—Joseph A. Minke, of Cumberland, regional game warden, and Francis H. Ruge, Grantsville, district game warden, have been appointed as certified hunter safety instructors, it has been announced by the National Rifle Association of America.

The new top ranked instructors passed a specified series of tests and served a prescribed period of time in training activities before receiving certification. They are now qualified to conduct classes in gun operation, safe gun-handling, and techniques of shooting on the target range and in the field to all interested members of their communities.

The trio joins the ranks of selected personnel which the NRA maintains throughout the country in a nationwide small arms education program. The program has been in operation since 1876, and since that time millions of people have been taught to handle and enjoy firearms safely.

RECORD
TUCSON, Ariz. (UPI)—Buddy
Sullivan shot the lowest PGA tour tournament round of the 1962 golf season when he carded a 61 on the opening 18 holes of the Tucson
Open.

HERE'S YOUR SALARY CHECK FOR THE WEEK, DAGWOOD.
I PUT IN A LOT OF OVERTIME THIS WEEK AND I'D LIKE TO SEE DITHERS.
I KNOW IT AND I SENT YOU AN OFFICE MEMO THANKING YOU FOR IT.
I SENT THE NOTE BECAUSE I KNEW EXTRA MONEY WOULD HUMILIATE YOU.

GOOD LUCK!

BUZ SAWYER
IF YOU LET US LUMBER, SENOR, PLEASE UNDER- STAND IT WILL TAKE US SEVERAL DAYS TO REPAIR OUR BOAT.
AND BY THEN, PERHAPS YOUR WIFE'S BABY WILL BE BORN AND YOU CAN ALL ESCAPE WITH US.
EVEN SO, THERE ARE OTHER PROBLEMS... MY FURNITURE FACTORY HAS BEEN TAKEN OVER BY THE GOVERNMENT. I WOULD MANAGE IT, I'VE BEEN ABLE TO HIDE A FEW SHORT BOARDS... BUT THERE ARE ALWAYS SPIES.
BUT ISN'T FREEDOM WORTH ANY RISK?
I DO NOT KNOW. WHAT WOULD WE DO IN THE UNITED STATES? HOW WOULD WE LIVE?

BARNEY & SNUFFY
SNUFFY SMIF!! COME ON IN AN' SET A SPELL.

Card Of Thanks

We desire to extend our heartfelt thanks to all who aided and comforted us in our recent sad bereavement at the death of our daughter, Joyce Ann Shanks. Especially do we thank the pallbearers, those who donated the use of their cars, those who sent floral tributes and to all those who aided us in any way.

Mr. and Mrs. Henry J. Shanks and Daughter

We wish to express our sincere thanks to all our relatives and friends who were so kind to us following the death of our loved one, Clyde R. Dicken. We especially wish to thank Rev. Russell Fink, those who sent cards, flowers and donated the use of their cars and all others who assisted in any way we are indeed grateful.

School Finance Bill Receives Wide Support

Tawes' Failure To Comment Cited

By GEORGE BOWEN

ANNAPOLIS (AP) — Near majorities in the Maryland House and Senate sponsored Friday legislation to give the counties and Baltimore City $14.8 million more for operation of schools.

Five million is over and above the minimum cost of changing the method of calculating state aid and guaranteeing that no county would receive less than under the existing system.

Five education groups want to give every subdivision more—up to an additional $4.9 million for Baltimore City—as well as revising the 40-year-old basis for state support of education.

They propose that the extra money be collected by lowering the personal and dependent income tax exemption from $800 to $600.

That's equal to $6 in taxes for each exemption.

Outcome In Doubt

Although sponsored by 59 of the 142 delegates and 11 of the 29 senators, there was doubt that approval of the increased school aid will be forthcoming.

The plan was presented to Gov. Tawes last fall and his lack of public comment to date indicates disfavor. He also is on record as saying there will be no tax increase during the next fiscal year.

The fundamental feature of the proposal is to base state aid on pupils rather than minimum salaries for teachers.

The teachers association maintains the salary yardstick has lost its significance because all the local governments are paying more than the state minimums.

"The new system will relate the cost of education directly to pupils and will be more responsive to change and local needs," it said in a statement.

"Every serious study in the field of school finance indicates that we must double our expenditures for education in the decade ahead. Obviously, this increase cannot be borne exclusively on the local level where the real estate tax is the chief source of revenue."

The teachers were joined in the statement by the Association of School Superintendents, Congress of Parents and Teachers, Association of Boards of Education and Library Association.

Get Slot Choice

This was the second major education proposal received this session of the legislature. The other already enacted will foster development of liberal arts education in the five teacher colleges.

The House also received Friday another choice in the pending slot machine issue. Del. Charles C. Linton Jr., D-Charles, asked that the voters of his county be allowed to choose if they should go or stay.

The question would be whether to gradually reduce the maximum number in one establishment from the present 35 until none would be legal after May 1, 1968.

Gov. Tawes has proposed doing away with the slots in Charles, Anne Arundel, St. Mary's and Calvert counties over a three-year period.

The recent picketing by college students in protest to racial segregation in a Baltimore City theater had another repercussion in the Senate.

Sen. Robert P. Dean, D-Queen Annes, put in a bill to require colleges receiving state aid to expel a student convicted of trespassing, the law under which hundreds of the pickets were arrested.

Plan Would Give County $234,720 More For Schools

ANNAPOLIS (AP) — The increased state school aid for subdivisions under a new plan submitted to the Maryland Legislature Friday:

Charles $159,414; Dorchester $196,527; Frederick $173,104; Garrett $62,985; Harford $428,792; Howard $224,886; Kent $56,185;

Plan To Train Orchard Crews Is Criticized

Wage Scale Cited By Labor Leader

BALTIMORE (AP) — A Baltimore labor leader said Friday that a federally supported manpower retraining program, intended to ease the unemployment problems of automation, will be used in Western Maryland to train workers for 80-cent per hour agricultural jobs.

Philip Van Gelder, an international representative for the International Association of Machinists and a member of the Governor's Advisory Committee for Manpower Development and Training, said he learned of the proposed agricultural training course last week.

"I understood the program was to upgrade the skills of people who are out of work," Van Gelder said, "and I can't understand how you could upgrade somebody's skill to the point where he can get an 80-cent-an-hour job."

Is Considered

"It doesn't make sense to me. The program generally is supposed to help prepare American workers for an age of automation and I don't see how fruit tree cultivation fits into the general scope of the legislation."

A state official confirmed that a plan to train orchard workers for year-round jobs was under consideration.

James A. Ross, staff supervisor for employer relations of the Maryland State Employment Service, said, however, that the U.S. Department of Labor would need assurances that graduates of the course would receive pay "equal to what that type of job should pay in the community."

"We can't train them for anything like the old-time sweat shop or to work for substandard wages," Ross said. He said the department is negotiating with orchard owners for commitments that graduates would receive wages higher than the prevailing 80 cents an hour.

Criticizes Plan

Without such assurance, Ross said, "it is doubtful that the salary they could get would justify the training."

Van Gelder said the course will be offered for 30 to 40 workers in the Hancock area of Washington County, a major producer of apples in Maryland.

"It is definitely planned," Van Gelder said, "but when it is supposed to start I do not know."

He said workers would be trained for tree pruning and other jobs to enable them to be hired for year-round farming jobs. He also was critical of plans to establish a training course for cooks under the federal retraining program.

Membership Awards Won By Legion

Mountain District of the American Legion has won all four of the membership awards in the Department of Maryland membership contest.

Philmore Fleming, district commander, has been notified by James E. Powers, national commander, that this district is leading the entire Maryland department on the basis of 1963 membership as a percentage of the 1962 membership.

Two prizes, a pair of cuff links and a lighter, were presented to Mr. Fleming last week.

Two others, including the Wamsley trophy, for outstanding achievement in membership, will be awarded to district officials during the state Legion convention planned in Baltimore in July.

Mountain District's 12 posts in Allegany and Garrett counties had a quota of 2,605 in the 1963 membership drive.

Membership has already reached 2,842, or 109.3 per cent of the quota, and will reach 3,000, Mr. Fleming said.

Brisk Holiday Sales Reported

Near zero weather failed to cool the ardor of Tri-State area shoppers who thronged to Cumberland yesterday to take advantage of the Washington's birthday sales.

Some shoppers stood in line for an hour waiting for stores to open so they could get first choice of advertised merchandise.

A spokesman for the Downtown Cumberland Business Association said the sale was very successful and that all stores contacted reported a good day.

Shelves holding the merchandise, which had been marked down sharply for the annual sale, were generally bare by closing time.

Restaurant Inspection Continues

Health Dept. Visits 95 Establishments

Since beginning its new program of inspection of county eating and drinking establishments in December, the Allegany County Health Department has inspected 95 of an estimated 400 restaurants. Forty-one schools are included in the over-all total.

This week, prospective operators of eating and drinking establishments and operators of establishments to be materially altered were notified of health requirements for food and drinking places which fall under the jurisdiction of Maryland State Department of Health regulations.

Gaylord Brooks, senior sanitarian, said that establishments changing hands will be considered as new ones.

New operations or those planning alterations are required to submit complete plans, including equipment specifications, finish schedules and plumbing diagrams to the Health Department for approval before receiving or renewing a permit to operate. The department will review the plans and discuss operations and problems to insure that requirements of the eating and drinking establishments code are met.

In cooperation with this program, the Allegany County Board of Alcoholic Beverages License Commissioners and the Planning and Zoning Board, will notify applicants for new operations and others of the Health Department requirements.

The Health Department has also advised restaurant owners of violations of several basic requirements of good sanitation which have been found in restaurant inspections to date.

Foremost among these is lack of compliance with proper dishwashing procedures. The law requires all utensils to be washed in hot, soapy water, rinsed in clear, hot water and then immersed for at least two minutes in an approved sanitizing solution.

Other items that may easily be corrected by the operator were listed by Mr. Brooks. These include, 45 degree temperature or lower in all refrigeration equipment; soap and towels at all handwashing sinks; use of proper containers for trash and garbage; clean shelves in refrigerators with no evidence of food build-up; shelves and work surfaces clean, uncluttered, smooth and grease resistant and storing paper service products in original container, not stacked on shelves.

Sanitarians also found several common practices not in conformance with state regulations during their inspections.

These are use of a common sugar bowl; pastries and other perishable foods kept at room temperature; untidy and uncovered hair of personnel; use of unwrapped straws from box; improper storage of foods and milk being served from quart or gallon containers instead of from approved dispenser or individual container.

90% On Credit

He and other witnesses estimated up to 90 per cent of the state's retail business is on a credit basis, including the 30 - day charge accounts which the department stores do not charge any interest on. Kohn said losses are about four times as great on revolving credit accounts as on the term ones.

He observed that a rate of 36 per cent per year compounded 3 per cent per month, is allowed by the state on small loans, 18 per cent a year on automobile purchases and 30 per cent a year on used cars.

Kohn said while most merchants observe the limits set forth in the proposed law, some others do not. "We need this law to keep the lesser number of our profession from blacking us with their brush," he said.

Frank Kauffman, attorney for the retail merchants, said revolving credit is in use in every state of the union although it is covered by statute in only 12 states.

Unit Approves Credit Charge Control Bill

By HERB THOMPSON

ANNAPOLIS (AP)—A bill to regulate credit charges on retail sales in Maryland for the first time won overwhelming approval late Friday in the Senate Banking and Insurance Committee.

In addition to placing a legal limit on finance charges on installment sales and interest rates on so-called "revolving credit" accounts, it would require that such charges be stated plainly on the customer's invoice so that he will know exactly what he is paying.

At present there is a ceiling only on finance charges on automobiles in Maryland.

The new bill would apply to department store purchases and other merchandise bought on credit.

Chairman John-Clarence North said the committee will report the bill to the floor Tuesday for action by the full senate.

Sets Limits

These limits would be established on carrying charges for purchases on monthly installment plans:

$12 per $100 per year, on all amounts up to $1,000.

$10 per $100 per year, on those over $1,000.

A $12 minimum charge on any contract more than 8 months and $10 minimum if it is 8 months or less.

For revolving credit accounts, those in which the customer keeps charging and pays as convenient, an interest rate of 1½ per cent per month would be permitted on any unpaid balance up to $1,000. The rate would be limited to 1 per cent per month on balances over $1,000.

Sen. James A. Pine, D-Balto County, the only one of committee members to vote against the bill, protested against giving legal recognition to the 1½ per cent rate, which he said amounted to 18 per cent interest a year when compounded.

Pine said he had some reservations that the practice of charging such rate now, admittedly being followed by mail order stores and most merchants, was legal.

Louis Kohn II, vice president of Hochschild - Kohn Department Stores, said the merchant would lose money at a lower rate. He said to extend credit a merchant must borrow, pay interest to a bank on that, and then face additional charges on the money book-keeping transactions, billing and postage costs involved.

"If it was reduced we (the large stores) would be able to survive, but we would survive best by doing without this type of credit," he said.

Foot Doctors Win Support

ANNAPOLIS (AP) — Foot doctors would be included under Blue Shield surgical insurance coverage in a bill approved 8-2 Friday by the Senate Banking and Insurance Committee.

The committee took the bill up one week after a public hearing at which medical doctors had opposed including any other profession in the plan which they helped organize.

Chiropractors, the first so-called "paramedical" group to win even committee approval for inclusion, argued that they sometimes do work that an orthopedic surgeon would be reimbursed for by Blue Shield.

The doctors argued it would be a foot in the door to others—such as chiropractors and psychologists—to also get in the plan. They also said it would drive up the rates now paid by subscribers. Medical doctors and dentists are presently the only groups covered.

Sens. James Clark Jr., D-Howard, and John Thomas Parran, D-Charles, were the only two committee members to vote against the bill.

If the bill is enacted, the board of Blue Cross-Blue Shield, made up of most of doctors, could prescribe what foot care would be covered.

Juvenile Court Magistrate Thanks Officers

Juvenile Court Magistrate Louis A. Fatkin has sent letters to Allegany County Sheriff Paul C. Haberlein, Lt. W. Elwood O'Hara of the Maryland State Police and Cumberland Chief of Police B. F. Gaffney commending them for their fine cooperation with Juvenile Court.

In his letters to the three law enforcement officers, Magistrate Fatkin said he felt it was fitting to acknowledge their excellent service during his first four years as magistrate.

He added the court's position is a "burdensome and trying" one and the work of the three men and their staffs has made for much of any success achieved by Juvenile Court.

The executive board of the Holy Name Society of St. Peter and Paul Catholic Church will meet on Wednesday at 7:30 p. m. in the monastery to plan for the regular membership meeting.

Edward Young, president, is urging all officers and committee chairmen to attend the meeting.

Plan To Train Orchard Crews Is Criticized

Wage Scale Cited By Labor Leader

BALTIMORE (AP) — A Baltimore labor leader said Friday that a federally supported manpower retraining program, intended to ease the unemployment problems of automation, will be used in Western Maryland to train workers for 80-cent per hour agricultural jobs.

Phillip Van Gelder, an international representative for the International Association of Machinists and a member of the Governor's Advisory Committee for Manpower Development and Training, said he learned of the proposed agricultural training course last week.

"I understood the program was to upgrade the skills of people who are out of work," Van Gelder said, "and I can't understand how you could upgrade somebody's skill to the point where he can get an 80-cent-an-hour job."

Is Considered

"It doesn't make sense to me. The program generally is supposed to help prepare American workers for an age of automation and I don't see how fruit tree cultivation fits into the general scope of the legislation."

A state official confirmed that a plan to train orchard workers for year-round jobs was under consideration.

James A. Ross, staff supervisor for employer relations of the Maryland State Employment Service, said, however, that the U.S. Department of Labor would need assurances that graduates of the course would receive pay "equal to what that type of job should pay in the community."

"We can't train them for anything like the old-time sweat shop or to work for substandard wages," Ross said. He said the department is negotiating with orchard owners for commitments that graduates would receive wages higher than the prevailing 80 cents an hour.

Criticizes Plan

Without such assurance, Ross said, "it is doubtful that the salary they could get would justify the training."

Van Gelder said the course will be offered for 30 to 40 workers in the Hancock area of Washington County, a major producer of apples in Maryland.

"It is definitely planned," Van Gelder said, "but when it is supposed to start I do not know."

He said workers would be trained for tree pruning and other jobs to enable them to be hired for year-round farming jobs. He also was critical of plans to establish a training course for cooks under the federal retraining program.

Curb On Gas Used By Plants Goes Off Today

The curtailment of gas to industrial plants brought on by the bitter cold weather will be lifted at 8 a. m. today.

John S. Wilson, district manager of the Columbia Gas of Maryland, made the announcement last night.

On Thursday at 11 a. m. the curtailment of gas to the plants went into effect and the huge consumers were asked to cut back on their usage of gas.

Restaurant Inspection Continues

Health Dept. Visits 95 Establishments

Since beginning its new program of inspection of county eating and drinking establishments in December, the Allegany County Health Department has inspected 95 of an estimated 400 restaurants. Forty-one schools are included in the over-all total.

This week, prospective operators of eating and drinking establishments and operators of establishments to be materially altered were notified of health requirements for food and drinking places which fall under the jurisdiction of Maryland State Department of Health regulations.

Gaylord Brooks, senior sanitarian, said that establishments changing hands will be considered as new ones.

New operations or those planning alterations are required to submit complete plans, including equipment specifications, finish schedules and plumbing diagrams to the Health Department for approval before receiving or renewing a permit to operate. The department will review the plans and discuss operations and problems to insure that requirements of the eating and drinking establishments code are met.

In cooperation with this program, the Allegany County Board of Alcoholic Beverages License Commissioners and the Planning and Zoning Board, will notify applicants for new operations and others of the Health Department requirements.

The Health Department has also advised restaurant owners of violations of several basic requirements of good sanitation which have been found in restaurant inspections to date.

Foremost among these is lack of compliance with proper dishwashing procedures. The law requires all utensils to be washed in hot, soapy water, rinsed in clear, hot water and then immersed for at least two minutes in an approved sanitizing solution.

Other items that may easily be corrected by the operator were listed by Mr. Brooks. These include, 45 degree temperature or lower in all refrigeration equipment; soap and towels at all handwashing sinks; use of proper containers for trash and garbage; clean shelves in refrigerators with no evidence of food build-up; shelves and work surfaces clean, uncluttered, smooth and grease resistant and storing paper service products in original container, not stacked on shelves.

Sanitarians also found several common practices not in conformation with state regulations during their inspections.

These are: use of a common sugar bowl; pastries and other perishable foods kept at room temperature; untidy and uncovered hair of personnel; use of unwrapped straws from box; improper storage of foods and milk being served from quart or gallon containers instead of from approved dispenser or individual container.

Unit Approves Credit Charge Control Bill

Rate Would Go On Invoices

By HERB THOMPSON
ANNAPOLIS (AP)—A bill to regulate credit charges on retail sales in Maryland for the first time won overwhelming approval late Friday in the Senate Banking and Insurance Committee.

In addition to placing a legal limit on finance charges on installment sales and interest rates on so-called "revolving credit" accounts, it would require that such charges be stated plainly on the customer's invoice so that he will know exactly what he is paying.

At present there is a ceiling only on finance charges on automobiles in Maryland.

The new bill would apply to department store purchases and other merchandise bought on credit. Chairman John-Clarence North said the committee will report the bill to the floor Tuesday for action by the full senate.

Sets Limits
These limits would be established on carrying charges for purchases on monthly installment plans:

$12 per $100 per year, on all amounts up to $1,000.

$10 per $100 per year, on those over $1,000.

A $12 minimum charge on any contract more than 8 months and $10 minimum if it is 8 months or less.

For revolving credit accounts, those in which the customer keeps charging and pays as convenient, an interest rate of 1½ per cent per month would be permitted on any unpaid balance up to $1,000. The rate would be limited to 1 per cent per month on balances over $1,000.

Sen. James A. Pine, D-Balto County, the only one of eight committee members to vote against the bill, protested against giving legal recognition to the 1½ per cent rate, which he said amounted to 18 per cent interest a year when compounded.

Pine said he had some reservations that the practice of charging such rate now, admittedly being followed by mail order stores and most merchants, was legal.

Louis Kohn II, vice president of Hochschild - Kohn Department Stores, said the merchant would lose money at a lower rate. He said to extend credit a merchant must borrow, pay interest to a bank on that, and then face additional charges on the money book-keeping transactions, billing and postage costs involved.

"If it was reduced we (the large stores) would be able to survive, but we would survive best by doing without this type of credit," he said.

90% On Credit
He and other witnesses estimated up to 90 per cent of the state's retail business is on a credit basis, including the 30 - day charge accounts which the department stores do not charge any interest on. Kohn said losses are about four times as great on revolving credit accounts as on the term ones.

He observed that a rate of 36 per cent per year compounded 3 per cent per month, is allowed by the state on small loans, 18 per cent a year on automobile purchases and 30 per cent a year on used cars.

Kohn said while most merchants observe the limits set forth in the proposed law, some others do not. "We need this law to keep the lesser number of our profession from blacking us with their brush," he said.

Frank Kauffman, attorney for the retail merchants, said revolving credit is in use in every state of the union although it is covered by statute in only 12 states.

State Department Asked For Aid In NBC-Soviet Rift

Close on the heels of NBC's twin documentary presentations, "The Death of Stalin" and "The Rise of Khrushchev," Soviet officials ordered the closing of the NBC Moscow News Bureau.

Robert B. Kintner, President of the National Broadcasting Company, has asked the State Department for assistance in bringing about the prompt reestablishment of the Moscow Bureau.

Kintner also sent a message of protest to Nikita Khrushchev that the "punitive action" of the Soviet authorities "is unwarranted, will impede news reporting from the Soviet Union and can only be damaging to relations between the United States and the Soviet Union."

The hour-long programs, part of NBC's "White Paper" series, were aired January 27 and February 3. In his message to Secretary of State Dean Rusk, Kintner defended the presentations as "factual accounts based on contemporaneous film and eyewitness reports and have been acclaimed for their authenticity and information value."

VICTOR BORGE

Victor Borge 'Annual' Set For Monday

By Ruth E. Thompson

They say you can't buy happiness — but year after year people from Boston to Bombay find the price of a ticket to a Victor Borge "concert" buys a fair-sized chunk of the elusive stuff. Television audiences get an even better break in one way — just tune him in. Trouble is, he doesn't come any oftener than Christmas, just once a year.

Network rivalry is high for the honor of presenting "The Victor Borge Show" and ABC-TV is the lucky network this year . . . and this is the week! (Monday, February 25, 9:00 PM EST). Aiding and abetting the — you will forgive the expression? "Great Dane" — will be the much-admired French Pantomimist, Marcel Marceau and pianist, Leonid Hambro.

This show also marks Borge's debut at the New York Philharmonic Hall at Lincoln Center and the Philharmonic's debut as the locale for a variety telecast. No one is more excited about this happenstance than Borge himself. He's always felt that more of the spontaneous hilarity he achieves minute-after-minute without letup on stage (he really shows an audience no mercy) would come across more faithfully on TV if he could do the show from a real theater or concert hall.

And when will he be back on TV next? Well even if he wanted to it can't be for a while because on the 27th he goes to Boston, then across the United States, up to British Columbia, off to Hawaii, Hong Kong, India, Australia, New Zealand, then Western Europe.

Husband, Wife Reunited
John McGovern has a double reason for liking his new role in "The Edge of Night." He likes his role, and furthermore he gets to see his wife, Peg Allenby, more often; she's a regular member of the cast. (Won't play his wife in the show, though, they're scouting for another "stage wife" for him!).

Swimming Around The Channels

AROUND THE DIAL: "Cheyenne" which had one of the longest runs of any TV series (eight years) is being readied now for re-running starting in April! Or you might put it, "Clint Walker Rides Again." Show is being scheduled for Fridays, 7:30 p. m.
What's in a title, something punny? That recent "Hawaiian Eye" segment called "Go for Baroque," could certainly qualify.
Pretty high-horse—Mr. Ed sure is feeling his oats but that's the trouble with a talking horse.
CBS's equine character doesn't know where to stop what with a recent episode having him call the White House to get across his views about hunt clubs. (If he can cause that much trouble at home, let's hope he leaves international affairs alone).
Ed Sullivan would like to have Irene Ryan do a little old soft-shoe again—and on his show—which is what she was doing in night clubs before she became
"Granny" in "Beverly Hillsbillies."
Carl Reiner, beloved second banana of the old Sid Caesar program and now creator-author-producer of "The Dick Van Dyke Show," recalls how he studied French in the Army, and then was shipped to Hawaii.
Tony Martinez, seen as Pepino, farmland in "The Real McCoys," earned a degree in business administration at the University of Puerto Rico before leaving home for work more to his liking.
Carl Ballantine who earned television fame originally as a magician is now an actor—and no tricks about it—he can be seen from time to time in "Car 54
Where Are You" and regularly in "McHale's Navy."

Hay And Neigh

Buddy Ebsen and his CBS
"Beverly Hillsbillies" may be doing fine with the rating services but he doesn't have what it takes with five of the home folks—his children.
Everyone of them from the two-year-old to the 14-year-old are crazy about horses and "Hillbillies" doesn't have any. Buddy says in order to rate as the family hero he'd have to try for a spot in "Bonanza."
